POST-SCRIPTS

All of the things you like the most, here in the columns of The Post—So take your pick. Perhaps a suicide you crave, Or other matters not so grave—Hop to it quick!

"If our country wishes to compete with others," says the President, "let it not be in the support of armaments, but in the making of a beautiful Capital City." Still, when the British burned the White House in 1814, Gen. Ross wasn't deterred by the beauty of Our Town.

The Carthaginian doesn't care how beautiful Rome is. Congress lays in its winter supply of literature.

A Presidential message is the only news story that can command ten columns in a crowded paper without once hinting at a scandal or a murder.

Speaking of the beautification of Our Town—and nearly everybody is nowadays—Senator Bruce branches out and proposes the purchase of the two squares on the north side of the Avenue between the Peace Monument and Third street, where in the old days our first railroad depot was located. When the Federal Government acquired, without cost, millions of dollars' worth of property in Washington, one of these squares fell to its lot and was swapped, as we recall, for some improvement to the old Tiber Creek canal, which later on was first dredged—to give jobs to the politicians—and then filled up and converted into B street. Moral: When you get a piece of property in this city, hang on to it!

Senator McKinley, of Illinois, as lovable a man as ever left the mark of his generous nature on the Capitol, is dead. He "blundered into politics" 21 years ago, and then blundered out.

The Victor company is sold for $40,000,000, a slight reversal of the old adage that money talks.

"Hang your clothes on a hickory limb, But don't go near the water." Mr. Coolidge gives the "farm bloc" permission to go out to swim.

Senator Bruce takes the floor and sings the Maryland State song—"How dry I am, how dry I am, Nobody knows how dry I am."

However, the dries can hardly afford to laugh at a member of a family which drew their inspiration and philosophy from the patience of a spider.

Health of mind, and then of body. So said Seneca, and so says Stephen Kramer anent all this Bavarian nonsense about athletics being injurious to the morals of young ladies. The frapped F street flapper, with red knees and a blue nose, must feel terribly over-dressed when she gets in a high school gymnasium suit.

The National City Bank takes Coolidge prosperity considerably more seriously than Senator Joe Robinson does.

The House adjourns out of respect for the memory of one of the giants of a distant day who helped to make it great. The momentary given to that legislative body by Clay, Calfax, Reed and Cannon is still carrying it along under a cumbersome system far less perfect than the one they invented for the conduct of the nation's business. "Uncle Joe" long outlived his traducers in the affections and intellectual regard of his fellow countrymen.

Speaking of Henry Clay, he was forever harping upon "the sword and the purse," and insisting that the legislative branch of the government keep a firm grip upon them. In recommending to Congress the granting of appropriations for two-year periods the President will encounter in the "Cave of the Winds" and the "Fog Bank" a deeply rooted prejudice which goes way back before Clay to the British parliament which first wrung liberty from headstrong royalty through control of the money bags. Nothing makes anybody so dependent as the necessity of asking for a little cash, and this applies to Presidents no less than to kings.

Frank L. Smith shows a reluctance to brave the wrath of the Senate until Bill Vane can get there. Misery loves company.

The Republican candidate for mayor of Northampton, Mass., goes down to defeat, and we hadn't even heard that Mr. Coolidge had inherited him. How does Senator Walsh explain this?

Another Memphis cashier is $300,000 short in his accounts and yet the Democrats would try to make out that the South isn't prosperous.

SENATOR M'KINLEY, OF ILLINOIS, DEAD AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Primary Election Inquiry and Last Congress Took Strength.

MANAGER OF TAFT'S CAMPAIGN OF 1912

$10,000,000 Given in Many Works of Philanthropy, His Secretary Says.

Martinsville, Ind., Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Senator William B. McKinley, of Illinois, died at the Homelawn sanitarium here at 4:10 p. m. today.

Death followed an illness of several months. He was brought here the latter part of August suffering from prostatic cancer. He was 70 years old. Senator McKinley's body will be taken in charge by a local undertaker, after which it will be taken by train to Indianapolis and thence to Champaign, Ill., where funeral services will be held Friday.

At the bedside were his sister, Mrs. S. A. Powers, Champaign, Ill.; his nieces, Mrs. T. J. Camp, Fort Leavenworth, Kans.; Mrs. Alan MacDonald, Danville, Ill.; Miss Julia Mattis, Champaign, and his nephew, George M. Mattis, Champaign. With him, too, as he has been for the last 22 years, was C. A. Willoughby, his private secretary.

Senator McKinley, after recuperating to some degree from a major operation performed last spring at Baltimore, became critically ill early in September, due to a pneumonia complication. The veteran senator, however, overcame this attack and early in October was well enough to take an interest in the world series baseball contest. Since then his strength has been weakening gradually.

Friends of Senator McKinley declared the last session of Congress sapped strength considerably, as did the strenuous primary campaign in which he was defeated for renomination by Col. Frank L. Smith, of Dwight, Ill. They intimated also that the investigation into the Illinois primary by the senatorial campaign expenditures committee was a source of annoyance to Senator McKinley in his then enfeebled condition.

Managed Taft Campaign. Senator McKinley was chairman and treasurer of the congressional committee, and later became secretary of the senatorial committee. He managed the campaign of William Howard Taft for President in 1912. Early in his career he was reputed to be one of the wealthiest men in Congress. Senator McKinley's long activity in the mortgage and loan business had given him a fortune and several years ago he made numerous remunerative investments in Illinois public utilities.

"In recent years, however, he conducted a campaign of donations to charitable institutions," Mr. Willoughby said, "and in the last eight or ten years he probably donated between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 in private and public philanthropies."

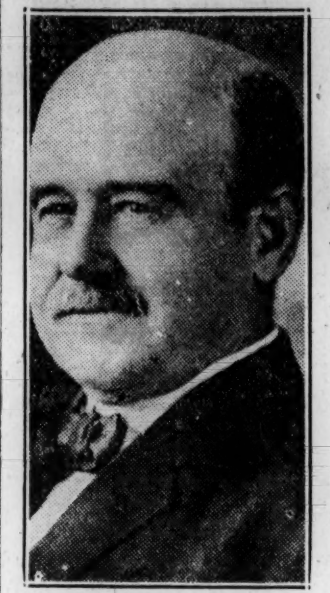

He maintained the McKinley working girl's home in Chicago and the Sarah Hackett Stevenson home for girls, the latter institution being a day nursery accommodating about 200 babies. His most recent donation was $500,000 to a hospital fund of the University of Illinois.

"Senator McKinley's great hobby always has been the education of boys," his secretary said. "For instance, the McKinley fund at the University of Illinois for seniors to whom money is loaned to enable them to complete their final college year. He always put the young man on his honor."

With Hays and Mellon. Senator McKinley was a member of the Presbyterian board in its drive for funds and in that connection served along with Will H. Hays and Andrew Mellon.

The death of Senator McKinley brought to three, the number of senators who have died since the close of the last session.

SENATOR DIES

RICH AMERICAN KILLS ILL WIFE AND NURSE

Turns Weapon on Himself After Shooting Women in Paris Home.

FAMILY BILLS ARE BLAMED

Paris, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—William Howell Payne, a wealthy aged American, enraged over what he believed an irregularity in household accounts, today shot and killed a French nurse and his paralyzed wife who sat by a helpless witness of the tragedy. He then committed suicide, the triple deaths all occurring within a minute or two.

Mr. Payne, born in New York city 66 years ago, had lived in a luxurious 12-room apartment on the Avenue Champs Elysee for 20 years. He recently returned from a trip to the Riviera and today began examining household accounts with his wife's French nurse and companion, Mlle. Henriette Adrienne Henry. Mrs. Payne was seated nearby in the library.

The aged American and the nurse disputed the accounts heatedly. Payne suddenly drew a revolver and fired at the woman, wounding her. She fled screaming into the kitchen, but Payne overtook her and fired four more shots, three taking effect and the nurse crumpled to the floor, dead.

Payne then returned to the library where his wife, an invalid for fifteen years, was crouching in her chair, unable to move, and fired the remaining shot in the pistol into her head, killing her instantly. He then ran into his bedroom, got another revolver and shot himself through the temple. The family had just finished lunch and police said a bottle of brandy, opened for the meal, was on a fourth empty. Servants told police that Mr. Payne had been extremely irritable and that the nurse was of an arbitrary disposition and usually had Mrs. Payne's support in any differences that arose.

Mr. Payne kept most of his wealth in American securities and did business with the United States Trust Co. of New York. He was a member of the Travellers club, where he visited yesterday, and the St. Cloud Golf and Country club.

Mrs. Payne, whose first name was Jennie, was born in Georgia. A sister, Mrs. Margaret Davis, and a brother, William Lee Inman, both live in the United States, but their addresses could not be learned.

CHICAGO CAFES SHUT ON VISUAL EVIDENCE

Serving of Ice and Ginger Ale and Sight of Hip Flasks Convince Court.

Chicago, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—The snuffer was applied to the bright lights in Chicago's downtown night life today as Judge Adam C. Cliffe who ordered three cafes closed for a year each under the abatement of a nuisance provision of the prohibition law.

The places ordered locked up were the Moulin Rouge, Friars' Inn and the Town club. The decision was a direct blow at those who carry hip liquor into the cafes and there obtain the ingredients to mix with it. There was no presentation of testimony in court as to the purchase of liquor in any of the places closed, nor was there any liquor seized in any raids.

The government based its entire evidence on what prohibition agents who had visited the resorts had seen, particularly that waiters had served cracked ice, ginger ale and mineral water to patrons and that the patrons had poured something from a hip flask into this.

E. C. Yellowley, prohibition administrator, said he had a long list of other places that he would take similar action against and would also warn hotels.

FIGHT FOR DISTRICT IMPROVEMENT PLAN GOES TO CONGRESS

$314,984 Paid for Plots Assessed at $191,406, Commission Says.

PERCENTAGE LIMIT REMOVAL DEMANDED

Southern Railway Building Is Sought; Officials Approve Police Court Site.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The many factors involved in the District's vast improvement program began taking form for action by Congress yesterday.

The National Capital park and planning commission, submitting a report of properties acquired disclosed that it had to pay $314,984.78 for the aggregate holdings assessed at but $191,406.84. It urged the removal of the 125 per cent limitation on the price that may be paid, and also urged that it be given more than $600,000 annually in accordance with the original park commission act which authorized an appropriation of 1 cent for every inhabitant of the continental United States. Such an appropriation, the commission figures, would total $1,037,000 a year.

At the District building, the commissioners approved a bill providing for the purchase of the Southern Railway building to be used as an annex of the District building. It became known in this connection that while the railway has no objection to vacating its quarters inasmuch as they are crowded, when it does so and it will eventually have to whether the building is purchased or not, it will seriously consider removing the headquarters to another city.

Police Court Site Selected. A conference between Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy of the District Supreme court, Judge Gus A. Schuldt, of police court, and Charles Moore and H. P. Caemmerer, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the commission of fine arts, yesterday resulted in the selection of the southeast corner of Judiciary square as the site of the proposed new police court building. The recommendation will be forwarded to Congress at once.

Senator Bruce, of Maryland, introduced a bill looking to the acquisition of the property on the north side of Pennsylvania avenue, between First and Third streets.

Senator Smoot, chairman of the public buildings commission, and Chairman Elliott of the House public buildings and grounds committee, plan, as soon as they get to it, to introduce measures calling for the acquisition of all property south of Pennsylvania avenue and between Third and Fifteenth streets not already owned by the government.

This project and the city's improvement program in general were endorsed by President Coolidge in his annual message to Congress.

The commissioners' bill is more or less of a gesture growing out of their

Stock Exchange Seat Is Sold for $175,000

New York, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—A new record price of $175,000 for a seat on the New York Stock Exchange, $50,000 more than the recent high mark, has been arranged by the commission on admission. It was announced today. The identity of the purchaser will be made public after approval by the governors of the exchange.

Coolidge Home City Again Democratic

Northampton, Mass., Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—For the second time in two years President Coolidge's home city has gone Democratic. Mayor William E. Welch, Democrat, was reelected today by 801 votes over his Republican opponent, former Mayor William H. Felker. At the last election, after serving six terms, Mayor Felker bowed to the man who won out again today.

INQUIRY OVER GOULD IN SENATE LAUNCHES VARE-SMITH BATTLE

Resolution Is Opposed by Men Backing Pair to Be Challenged.

REED SAYS IT TAKES STATES' AUTHORITY

Walsh Wants Decision on Points to Be Met Later; Vote Is 70 to 7.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.

The Senate voted yesterday to investigate the truth or falsity of charges which have been made against Senator Arthur R. Gould, of Maine, as provided for in the resolution of Senator Thomas R. Walsh, of Montana, but from the words and actions of the members it was obvious the attack against the newcomer from "down East" was only the opening skirmish of the major battle that is to come when William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, present themselves at the bar of the Senate.

The vote on the Walsh resolution, which in effect was seconded by the man accused, was 70 to 7, and the minority included such names as Bleasie, Reed of Pennsylvania and Moses, who have already stated publicly and definitely they would support the two men to be challenged next December.

The course of the Senate resolution, which was confined to its sponsor and Senators Borah and David A. Reed, developed three factors: First—That Senator Walsh, despite his disclaimer that his action now is the groundwork of anything that may happen in the future, wants the Senate committee on privileges and elections to decide two of the most important points that must be settled in the cases of Vare and Smith, namely, whether the Senate has any authority to judge a man's qualifications on any other than the constitutional grounds, and whether it takes a two-thirds vote or only a majority action to deprive a member of his seat.

Under Way This Afternoon. The second—the declaration of Senator Borah that he intended to vote for the resolution, but that at the same time he carried to its theory, which if carried to a logical conclusion, he said, would deprive the Senate from inquiring into derelictions committed prior to the election of a man to the Senate. The Idaho senator insisted such a right rested with the Senate.

Third—The opening gun of the Vare and Smith defense fired by Senator David Reed on the ground of the sovereign right of the States to determine through an election the fitness of its representatives in the Senate, and his opposition to what he termed the usurpation of this authority by the Senate.

The actual machinery of the Gould investigation will get under way this afternoon at 2 o'clock before the committee on privileges and elections, of which Senator Richard P. Ernst, of Kentucky, is chairman. According to the statement of Senator Ernst, made following the adoption of the resolution, the first business will be the appointment of a subcommittee to hear testimony and draft a report for the full committee. As at present constituted the committee is composed on the majority side of "regular" Republicans throughout.

The expectation that Senator Walsh would bring his resolution to a vote yesterday afternoon was a subject of (CONTINUED ON PAGE 13, COLUMN 2.)

DEATH BY GAS ENDS MEN'S FRIENDLY VISIT

Accident Theory Is Advanced After Policeman Finds Bodies on Bed.

Death ended a friendly visit last night of two men. Their bodies were found in a gas filled room on the third floor of 734 Fifth street northwest, shortly before midnight. The men were Thomas Cratty, 68 years old, a lodger, and John Frenderville, 40, address unknown, who was visiting Cratty.

Mrs. Louise Keilberg, landlady, detected the odor of gas coming from the room, and without investigating ran to Fifth and F streets northwest, and summoned Traffic Policeman D. R. Thompson, who discovered the bodies.

The men were on the bed. Gas was flowing from an open jet and from two burners of a small stove. The windows were closed. Dr. Joseph D. Rogers, deputy coroner, expressed the opinion the deaths were accidental.

Mrs. Marie M. Edgar To Wed Greek Court

New York, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—The New York Times will say tomorrow that Mrs. Marie Manice Edgar, prominent New York society woman, will be married next week in Paris to Count Mercati, of Greece.

Mrs. Edgar, who is the widow of Newbold Henry Edgar, received the cross of the Legion of Honor last July for her work during the war as a member of the allied relief committee.

Oil Case Defense Expects To Finish by Last of Week

Trial Session, Adjourned Because of Doheny's Illness, to Be Resumed Today—Defendant Anxious to Take Stand in Own Behalf.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

The illness of Edward L. Doheny, one of the defendants in the Fall-Doheny conspiracy trial, will not prevent the defense from completing its case by the end of the week, according to present indications. This means, it is added, that the case will be in the hands of the jury early next week unless something unforeseen develops.

Mr. Doheny was resting comfortably last evening after the operation of Monday for a carbuncle in the elbow of the left arm. He had 2 degrees fever throughout most of the day, but his physicians hope that the full day of absolute rest will enable him to be in court at 10 o'clock this morning. His condition yesterday morning was such that he was not allowed to leave his bed, and yesterday's session of the trial in Justice Heohling's court was called off as a consequence.

Whether or not today's session will be held in the event of Mr. Doheny still having to remain in bed is undetermined. Defense counsel were willing yesterday for the trial to proceed in the absence of Mr. Doheny, and the latter is understood to be willing to sign the most formal kind of a waiver of his constitutional right to be present in the event of his doctors ordering him not to attend today.

But government counsel yesterday suggested the cancelling of the proceedings because there is a rather delicate legal question involved in going ahead with the trial during the involuntary absence of one of the defendants. Physical inability to be present constitutes involuntary absence. But defense counsel contend that Justice Heohling has the power to deal with this case of the involuntary absence of a defendant by proceeding after the defendant has waived his

KING FERDINAND'S LIFE NEAR END, SAYS DOCTOR

Must Face Second Operation in Few Hours; Suffers From a Cancer.

TROOPS BEING SHIFTED

(Special Cable Dispatch) Bucharest, Dec. 7.—King Ferdinand is doomed. The duration of his life, it is now feared, is a question of 24 to 48 hours, a physician close to the king said tonight.

At the end of that time, it will be necessary to open the occlusion made in Monday's operation. Little hope is held for the monarch's recovery. It is stated, though official bulletins still maintained an optimistic view.

The correspondent learns definitely that King Ferdinand is in the grasp of intestinal cancer.

While hope dwindles, the government, despite former Crown Prince Carol's guarded declaration denying his intention of attempting a coup d'etat, is taking every precaution, believing the prince's pronouncement might not stand should his royal father die.

Guardians of troops are being shifted in different areas and the generals are being transferred in order to break up the chances of an army conspiracy. Aviation is strictly controlled to prevent the prince from suddenly flying in, like Emperor Charles, of Hungary. Only special permits are being issued for any except military airplanes.

An inviolable censorship is strict, although the government denies the censorship exists. The Romanian press is watched closely. Carol's name is taboo and the king's health is not commented on.

McDermott's Counsel Seeks Venue Change

Courthouse, Canton, Ohio, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Change of venue was sought, in a motion this afternoon by Homer Bunker, counsel for Patrick J. McDermott in his trial on a charge of murdering Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher.

In support of the motion E. L. Mills, chief defense counsel, announced he would file an affidavit by McDermott, in which McDermott will swear that Prosecutor C. B. McClintock told him he would not get a fair trial in Stark county if he did not implicate his co-defendants, Louis Maser and Ben Rudner.

Union Pacific Again Gets Harriman Medal

New York, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—For the second consecutive year, the Union Pacific has been awarded the E. H. Harriman gold medal for the most conspicuous accident prevention work in America during the last year. It was announced today by Arthur Williams, president of the American Museum of Safety.

Man Held in Holdup With Water Pistol

Noticing Abraham Levitt, proprietor of a grocery store at 901 U street northwest, with his hands in the air and faced by a colored man with a gun, a colored passerby ran across the street to the Eighth precinct police station and called Policemen F. A. Schenck and M. J. Meyer.

The two policemen stopped the would-be robber as he was leaving the store and found, they say, the $5 and some small change he had taken from Levitt. His weapon was a water pistol. He gave his name as Foster Johnson, colored, 22 years old, 1745 S street northwest, and was charged with robbery.

NATIONAL CITY BANK TO BE WORLD'S BIGGEST

Directors Vote $25,000,000 Increase in Stock, to Absorb Subsidiary.

New York, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—The National City Bank of New York, which has long held the distinction of being the largest commercial bank in the United States, today voted a $25,000,000 increase in stock, which will give it the largest capital, surplus and undivided profits of any bank in the world. A large "melon" for stockholders will result from the enlargement.

At the same time the directors authorized plans for building up a worldwide organization through the acquisition of the major branches of the International Banking Corporation, a subsidiary.

Upon the enlargement of its capital structure, the bank will have a capital of $75,000,000, surplus of $50,000,000 and undivided profits of nearly $18,000,000—a total of approximately $143,000,000. This will exceed by more than $10,000,000 the capital figures of London's three largest financial institutions—the Midland Bank, Barclay's Bank and Lloyds'. Total resources of the National City Bank, now exceeding $1,200,000,000, probably will be expanded considerably by the development program.

Altogether, $50,000,000 of the new money will be raised by the sale of the additional bank stock to present shareholders at a price of $200 a share. Half the proceeds will be applied to the capital account of the bank and the remaining $25,000,000 to the capital and surplus of the National City Co., an investment subsidiary.

With the bank's stock selling above $200 a share, subscription rights, permitting the purchase of one new share for each two held as of January 15, are valued at approximately $140.

The receipt of the presidential message was surrounded yesterday by none of the high lights which characterized such events in the days of Wilson and Harding, when the pronouncements were read by the authors.

President Coolidge sent his message to the Senate, and, instead of a joint session, the Senate and House met separately and delegated to the reading clerk the task that recent Presidents have assumed for themselves.

The length of the message, about 12,000 words, necessitated the consumption of an hour's time for its delivery, and the floors and galleries in both houses showed signs of restiveness before it had been finished.

The spectators' galleries were not filled in either house. There were empty seats in a lot of the public galleries, and the sections reserved for diplomats and government dignitaries were only sparsely occupied.

The order in which the communication from the White House dealt with the subjects it presented may furnish some key to its importance in the mind of the author. The first proposal was for appropriation bills embracing a two-year span, a new theory of legislation, to which Congress has not even begun to react.

There followed in the order named, economy, tax reduction, the protective tariff, which the President insisted could not be disturbed, agriculture, development of water resources, reclamation, transportation, merchant marine, radio legislation, condition of industry and the wage earner, coal strike legislation, judiciary, banking reforms, Federal regulation, antilynching law, insular possessions, national defense, veterans legislation, the alien property settlement, prohibition enforcement, foreign relations, the Washington building program and American ideals.

General comment on the message obtained from congressional leaders followed party lines in general, but Democratic criticism was inclined to be

Supply Bills to Finance Government for Two Years Proposed.

WORLD COURT ISSUE AND SHOALS IGNORED

Insists Tariff Shall Not Be Disturbed; Asks Resources Be Developed.

President Coolidge in his message on "The State of the Union," read yesterday before both houses of Congress, asked its members to solve, with certain injunctions on his part, the two most important and vexing questions—tax and farm relief—that will confront the short session.

At the same time he laid before the legislative branch of the government at least a dozen other problems, including such controversial matters as an antilynching law, strike legislation and means for the stricter enforcement of prohibition, which probably will never emerge from the state of administration policies in which he placed them by his utterance.

The very preamble of the message, in which the chief executive stated both "what the country requires is not so much new policies as a steady continuation of those that are already crowned with such abundant success" and "in the present short session no great amount of new legislation is possible," indicated that the President has no idea that anything more than a part of his suggestion can be carried through, and in this congressional leaders appeared to agree.

World Court Ignored. The message was marked by only two omissions, the world court and Muscle Shoals, and these pervasively enough were among the first to be placed before the Senate.

There was every indication, however, in both branches and among all shades of opinion, that farm relief and taxation will be the two most debated and disputed questions which the present Congress will have before it.

Conferences on the tax fight preceded the receipt of the presidential message. Democrats generally agreed to make the battle one for reduction rather than a tax credit or a reduction of the tax credit, and a movement for greater representation on the Senate finance committee, where the preliminary engagements over the matter will be fought.

In the taxation features of his message the President veered slightly from the plan which he has emphasized during the last few weeks in the remarks of the "presidential spokesman." He advised Congress that tax reduction could be effected by a tax credit or a reduction of the debt. Either, he said, would be tax relief, and he left the choice of methods to Congress.

Similarly, in the matter of farm relief, he expressed his opposition to both price fixing and the entry of the government into the business of marketing, and then, after commending the work of cooperative agencies, asking Congress to find a "sound solution," and if it found one not "to hesitate to adopt it."

The receipt of the presidential message was surrounded yesterday by none of the high lights which characterized such events in the days of Wilson and Harding, when the pronouncements were read by the authors.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST TREASURER'S BOOKS BARE BIG SHORTAGE

George N. Sanders Confesses to Deficits Said to Total $92,000.

PART OF LOSS COVERED,
SAYS CONVENTION HEAD

Accused Employee Offers to Make Restitution: Bonded
for $25,000.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 7 (By A. P.). A shortage has been found by auditors in the accounts of George N. Sanders, of Richmond, treasurer of the foreign mission board of the Southern Baptist convention. Dr. George W. McDaniel, announced here tonight in a public statement which placed the amount at approximately $92,000. Mr. Sanders, an employee of a local bank, admitted the shortage when questioned tonight, but said he was not certain of the amount.

The shortage in Mr. Sanders' accounts was discovered by certified public accountants in their regular quarterly audit of the treasurer's books about a week ago. Soon afterwards Mr. Sanders was called before members of the convention's finance committee and upon being confronted with the evidence gathered by the accountants, Mr. McDaniel stated, admitted the shortage and offered to make restitution to the limit of his resources. He tendered his resignation at the meeting of the finance committee. It was forthwith accepted.

Part of Board's Indebtedness. "Financial and religious affairs rest upon confidence. The commercial structure is framed by trusting human beings. Now and then an unfortunate and regrettable affair, such as this, occurs. The danger is that it will cause some persons to lose confidence in all human kind."

"The foreign mission board has been as careful as a bank in handling its finances. The treasurer had been a trusted employee in one of the big banks of Richmond and had the recommendations of the bank officials. He was bonded for $25,000, and his books were audited quarterly."

"The auditors have just found a shortage of $92,000 in the treasurer's account. The money is a part of the present indebtedness of the board."

"Approximately $55,000 of the deficit would be made up by bonds, and certain property which the former treasurer has made over to the board. There are also equities in life insurance policies which have been turned over to the board."

The shortage in Mr. Sanders' accounts was also admitted by Dr. T. B. Ray, who was in charge of the foreign mission board's offices here today. Mr. Sanders was an employee of the board, working on a salary basis, and

STEPHAN ASKS APPROVAL OF ARMORY PROPOSAL

Announcing serious consideration of a proposal that the Pension Bureau building be allocated to the District National Guard for armory purposes, when quarters are erected to care for the general accounting office, Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, District guard commander, has requested the District commissioners to endorse the project to the public building commission.

He suggests use of the center hall of the Pension building for armory purposes and says space could be set aside for meeting of veterans organizations. The proposal, he says, is favored by the fine arts commission as the proper solution of the armory question.

CAPPER SEEKS ADVICE ON NEW COMMISSIONERS

Senate Chairman Wants Any Grievances Against District
Heads Filed Promptly.

CITES FENNING CHARGES

Asserting that he did not want the Senate District committee to be placed in the same light that it was in the case of former Commissioner Fenning, Senator Capper, chairman, yesterday invited anyone who has any grievance against Commissioners Doughty and Taffero to make it known now or forever hold their peace.

The nominations of the two commissioners were submitted to the Senate by the President yesterday. They were referred to the District committee. The nomination of Judge Charles V. Mehan and George C. Aukam, of the municipal court, to succeed themselves, were also submitted. They were referred to the judicial committee.

Senator Capper explained that it is not his duty to invite trouble for the two new commissioners, but if there are any charges to be sprung or any reasons why their appointments should not be confirmed the committee wants to know them now.

After the committee had studied the nomination of former Commissioner Fenning and heard two or three minor complaints it reported favorably and he was confirmed by the Senate with little ado. Then before the committee could pack up and go home a furore broke loose.

Any objections against Taffero and Doughty will be heard in executive session and the committee plans to deliberate fully before giving its report, he said. After that has been done Senator Capper hopes it will be the last of the matter.

Policemen Reelect Horace Lineberg

Policeman Horace W. Lineberg, of the Thirteenth precinct, was reelected president of the Police Association last night, defeating Sgt. Milton D. Smith, of the Seventh precinct, former president, by a vote of 687 to 301. Ballots were counted last night at the Sixth precinct.

Others elected were Patrick S. Tormer, of the Fourth precinct, as vice president; Joseph S. Davis, of the First precinct, second vice president; W. J. Kerns, of the First precinct, secretary; J. E. Wilson, of the Sixth precinct, financial secretary; W. C. Adcock, of the Twelfth precinct, treasurer; and W. J. Wagner, of the Tenth precinct, member of the board of trustees. W. J. Canfield, of the Sixth precinct, was chairman of the election committee.

Oxon Hill, Md., Man Is Held in Shooting

Following the shooting of John Butler, colored, 60 years old, in his home in Oxon Hill, Md., yesterday, William Waters, colored, 22 years old, who lived in Butler's home, was arrested by Constable Thomas H. Garrison and placed in the Bladenburg jail, awaiting the outcome of Butler's injury.

Waters said he was cleaning a pistol and he did not know there was a cartridge left in it when he stepped the trigger. The bullet struck Butler in the head. He was taken to Freedmen's hospital where physicians despaired of his life.

Gas Victim Recovering. Found lying unconscious on the floor of his room overcome by illuminating gas, Henry Paulsen, 49 years old, 413 Tenth street southwest was removed to Emergency hospital and revived, last night. Police reported that Paulsen accidentally brushed against a gas stove. His condition is not serious.

NEW ARMOY IS REQUEST OF MERCHANTS

First of Fourteen Proposals
Submitted by Association to Representative Gibson.

SCHOOL FUNDS SOUGHT

Erection of a new armory for the District national guard was placed first among fourteen requests submitted yesterday by the Merchants and Manufacturers association, through Ross P. Andrews, president, and Claude Owsen, chairman of its legislative committee, to Representative Gibson, chairman of the House subcommittee on the District.

Erection of new buildings for use of the District, removal of all so-called temporary government buildings constructed in the course of the war, adequate funds for extension of the public school system, street improvements and improvement of the river were among things recommended.

The proposals of the association and the order in which they were presented follow: A new armory for the national guard of the District of Columbia, new building for records of the District, new building for central police headquarters, removal of all temporary buildings erected during the war for emergency use, adequate appropriation by Congress for improvement and maintenance of 24-foot channel in the Potomac river, and adequate funds for the growth and maintenance of our public school system.

A high-pressure fire-protection system, sufficient appropriation for necessary repairs and maintenance of our streets and highways, improvement of the street-lighting system of Washington, municipal athletic stadium, commensurate with the surroundings of the Capital of the United States, a law to prevent the sale of fraudulent securities, indemnity bonds for operators and owners of automobiles, new bridge to replace the present Chain Bridge and completion of reclamation of Anacostia river flats above Benning bridge to the District line.

KIDNAPER IS SOUGHT IN MASSACHUSETTS

Arlington County Sheriff Asks
Arrests in Disappearance of Evelyn Samuels.

Sheriff Howard B. Fields, of Arlington county, Va., has requested Melvin (Mass.) police to arrest a resident of that city for questioning in connection with the kidnapping of 8-year-old Evelyn Samuels, Monday afternoon, in Washington and in unknown place, according to a report made to the sheriff, a man and a woman, in a black touring car bearing Massachusetts license tags, stopped in front of the school Monday as the children were departing for home and picked up the child and disappeared before the onlookers realized what was happening.

The men were heard from the child have been heard from. Mrs. Mary Samuels, grandparents in whose custody the child was placed by a Roulet, a court order after the divorce of her parents six years ago, are frantic. Sheriff Fields said yesterday that the mother had married a second time. The last time she was heard from was when the child was taken to a box of Christmas from her, her address then being Hollywood, Calif.

COMMISSIONERS GUESTS OF OLDEST INHABITANTS

Banquet Marks Celebration of Sixty-First Anniversary of Organization.

GOOD OLD DAYS, TOPIC

Washington of the pre-electric light age and of the future was pictured last night at the banquet celebration of the sixty-first anniversary of the founding of the Association of Oldest Inhabitants of the District in the Franklin Square hotel, Fourteenth and K streets northwest.

The speakers of the occasion were Cuno H. Rudolph, retired District commissioner, Commissioners J. Franklin Bell and Proctor L. Dougherty. Mr. Rudolph in his talk harked back to the street oil lamp and horse-and-carriage times, and described in vivid terms the trials and discomforts, which Washington residents were forced to undergo.

Commissioner Dougherty went back even further, relating the history of the form of the District government. He told of the floods, which were inevitable in downtown Washington during the springtime and after a season of heavy rains. Commissioner Bell visualized the Washington of the future, and the various streets to be completed. In the absence of the late Theodore W. Noyes, president of the association, Henry L. Bryan, vice president, acted as chairman and toastmaster. The entertainment was headed by George H. O'Connor and Matt Horne.

Hated in Europe Held Disarming Bar

Mutual suspicions and hatreds between European nations bars at present any hope of a real disarmament program. Maj. Gen. Harry A. Smith, chief of the war plans division, War Department, said today in a speech before the Officers association of the District at its meeting held in the Interior auditorium last night. Until the European nations stress their competition in armament and pay their debts there is little hope for stability in Europe.

The general told of his trip to Persia. He served as the official representative of the United States at the coronation of the Shah of Persia.

TWO HELD IN ASSAULT ON BARBECUE OWNER

Moreality, 75, Proprietor,

Lawrence Keegan and Clarence Coughlin, of Hyattsville, Md., were arrested yesterday by Constable Thomas H. Garrison, charged with assault with intent to rob John Moreality, 75-year-old proprietor of the White Pig Barbecue, in Hollywood, near Beltsville, Md., Monday night.

The men were held in the Bladenburg jail last night when they failed to put up the $1,000 bail required of each. A preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace John J. Faister, their arrest followed an investigation by Garrison and an undetected wound in Coughlin's neck. They said they had found the Bladenburg road blocked while on their way to Washington and in unknown place, according to a report made to the sheriff, a man and a woman, in a black touring car bearing Massachusetts license tags, stopped in front of the school Monday as the children were departing for home and picked up the child and disappeared before the onlookers realized what was happening.

Zihlman Explanation Asked by Democrats

A demand that Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, of Maryland, make an explanation of the floor of the House about his "relationship with a local insurance company" was contained in a resolution adopted last night by the National Democratic club at a meeting in the Raleigh hotel.

The resolution stated that two members of Congress, one from Maryland and one from Virginia, also demanded an explanation, but their names were not revealed. John W. Hayes, of Washington and North Beach, Md., was elected president, succeeding F. Myers. M. S. Murray was elected vice president; R. L. Halliwell, second vice president; C. Fred third vice president; Miss Mary P. Stone, secretary; James R. Baker, treasurer; Mrs. L. H. Boggs, Conrad Syme and Mrs. Stephen Gambrell, board of governors.

Man Silent to Death After Shooting Self

Harry Vincent Hazel, 41 years old, of Columbia, Md., ended his life when he fired a bullet into his head in a room at the Patterson house, 478 Pennsylvania avenue northwest yesterday afternoon. He died at last midnight in Casualty hospital.

Police at the Sixth precinct were unable to ascertain the cause of his act and Hazel maintained a strict silence until his death. When Hazel was brought to the hospital physicians believed his condition was not serious. Last night he suffered a relapse. The bullet which he ejected his life was fired from a .38-caliber revolver. Police are holding the gun.

JOSEPH PACHE DIES IN BALTIMORE AT 65

Director of Washington "Choir Invisible" Succumbs to Heart Disease.

Baltimore, Dec. 7.—Joseph Pache, widely known Baltimore and Washington music teacher, died today in the Maryland General hospital of a disease of the heart which first showed serious symptoms last Friday.

Mr. Pache was for more than 30 years director of the Baltimore Oratorio society, which staged two or three musical festivals each year. It was dissolved several years ago. Since that time he had given his attention chiefly to the "Choir Invisible," an organization of about 40 persons in Washington, and to teaching music in Baltimore, Washington and Annapolis, where he had studios.

J. E. MASTBAUM DIES; THEATER CHAIN HEAD

President of Stanley Company Succumbs to an Operation.

Philadelphia, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Jules E. Mastbaum, president of the Stanley Co. of America and head of one of the largest chains of motion picture and vaudeville houses in the United States, died today in a hospital.

Mr. Mastbaum was operated upon last Friday. It was announced death was due to acute intestinal obstruction, lumbar pneumonia and uremia.

With his brother, Stanley Mastbaum, who died last year, he operated the motion picture business in a small way, gradually acquiring movie houses in the city. The business was later expanded until it spread to Jersey, Delaware, New York, Washington, Baltimore and to Pittsburgh and other cities in Pennsylvania. A manager with other movie picture and vaudeville interests made the Stanley Co. of America one of the largest concerns of its kind.

He is survived by his widow, three children, and two sisters, Mrs. Ellis A. Gimbel and Mrs. Louis Gimbel.

MRS. MARY M. BROWNING DIES

Life-Long Resident Was Related to Washington and Mason Families.

Mrs. Mary Mason Browning, 73 years old, a life-long resident of nearby Washington, died today in the home of her son, the Rev. Robert E. Browning, in Baltimore.

Mrs. Browning was the widow of Dr. Warwick Evans, who was a physician of Washington before his death. Mrs. Browning was related to many of the old Virginia families, including the Washington and Mason families.

MISS CLARA F. SMITH DIES

Daughter of Late Gen. William Smith
Aided Charity Organizations Here.

Miss Clara Farrar Smith, of Washington, daughter of the late Maj. Gen. William Farrar Smith, U. S. A., died yesterday in New York city, according to word received here. She had been ill some time and was 59 years old.

Miss Smith, who had given generously of her time to local charitable organizations, particularly the Visiting Nurses society, is survived by a brother, Capt. Stewart Farrar Smith, U. S. N., retired. Capt. Smith and his wife were with Miss Smith when she died. Funeral services will be held here tomorrow. Burial will be in Arlington cemetery.

MRS. VIRGINIA WHEATLEY DIES

Widow of Old Resident, Was Identified
With Many Charitable Institutions.

Mrs. Virginia R. Wheatley, widow of Samuel E. Wheatley, an old resident of the District, died yesterday at her apartment in the Toronto. She was identified with many charitable institutions and was a member of St. John's church, Bethesda, Md.

For the last 30 years Mrs. Wheatley had maintained residence in Bethesda. She is survived by two sons, R. H. Wheatley, of St. Louis, and Dr. Charles Wheatley, U. S. N., stationed at Haiti, and five daughters, Miss Ellen H. Wheatley, Mrs. Thomas S. Borden, Mrs. A. B. Vezoy and Mrs. L. W. Oromoes, of the city, and Mrs. William C. Dawson, of Charlottesville, Va.

14 FLORIDA RUM CASE DEFENDANTS GIVE BOND

Will Be Tried Jointly With 20 Others in January
Term of Court.

CERTIORARI WRIT DENIED

The criminal division of the District Supreme court yesterday washed its hands of the Florida rum case when the fourteen defendants appeared and gave bond of $1,000 each to appear during the January term of the Federal court at Jacksonville, Fla., for trial on an indictment charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

This case has been hanging on for about two and a half years. Five United States Supreme court yesterday ended the efforts of the defendants to avoid removal to Florida by denying their petition for a writ of certiorari by which it was hoped that this court would review the action of the appellate court in dismissing the defendants' appeal. They appealed from the order of removal issued in the criminal court.

Among the defendants are Lieut. Joseph Sprinkle, retired, of the Eleventh precinct, and Patrick Barham, Charles Marshall and John B. Newman, former deputy marshals. The indictment charged that the defendants transported liquor from Florida to points in this city in Pullman and baggage cars and disposed of it here.

These defendants lived at various points along the railroad line from Tampa to Washington and were in the transportation of the liquor, the government will seek to show. Most of them worked on the Tampa end of the line, the district attorney said.

CITIZENS SEEK DATA ON TAX DELINQUENTS

Columbia Heights Association
Declares Corporations Owe
Millions to District.

Corporations and public utility concerns owe millions of dollars in back taxes to the District of Columbia, according to a resolution adopted last night by the Columbia Heights Citizens association. Some of these taxes, the resolution stated, have been due for more than sixteen years. The association requested Corporation Counsel Stephens to start immediately to prosecute the delinquent concerns and to supply the association with facts and figures on the taxes that are due.

The association enrolled 344 new members. President Alton B. Cary brought in the largest number, a total of 88, and former President W. I. Swanson was second with 55.

The association protested against one-man cars on the Eleventh street line. It also protested against the Electric Co., of Washington, and the Public Utilities commission, voted to have the association represented at meetings of the Gibson investigating committee, protested that several apartment houses and converted residences are not properly equipped with fire escapes, and heard a speech by Hugh M. Frampton in favor of a merger of the two traction companies.

DRIVE TO BE PLANNED BY WOMAN'S PARTY

Will Consider Tactics Tomorrow for Proposed Equal Rights Amendment.

Tactics to be pursued to press the proposed equal-rights constitutional amendment for consideration at this session of Congress will be considered tomorrow by the national council of the National Woman's Party in an all-day session at the party headquarters, 21 First street northeast.

Mrs. Edith Hooker, of Baltimore, chairman of the council, will preside. Among those who have already reached the city to attend are Mrs. Stephen Neil and Mrs. Clarence M. Smith, of New York; Mrs. John C. Martin, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Charles Meredith, of Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Florence Bayard Hilles and Miss Mabel Vernon, of Wilmington, Del.; and Dr. Caroline Spencer, of Colorado Springs, Colo.

There will be a luncheon to which members of the local branch of the party are invited. It will be in the nature of a rally. Besides the steering committee of the amendment before Congress, the council will consider measures to support pending bills affecting the District of Columbia, such as that providing for jury service for women, and the date of the annual national convention of the party to be held in California.

JUGOSLAV ANGER AROUSSED AT ITALY; CABINET RESIGNS

Action Taken to Impress on World Danger to Peace,
Says Premier.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS
DISTURBED BY EVENTS

Secret Clause Said to Give Rome Military Bases and Promise Aid.

Paris, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Trouble is seething over Italy's new treaty with Albania. Jugoslavia is aghast with anger; her foreign minister, Dr. Ninichich, resigned last night in protest, and the whole cabinet headed by Mr. Ouzounovitch followed his lead, to attract the world's attention to what he has described as the "new and grave situation," and what is generally regarded as a serious danger to central European peace.

Even the League of Nations is greatly disturbed over these events, advised from Geneva state, for Dr. Ninichich was president of the last assembly of the league, and complications of a widespread nature are feared.

Jugoslavia is a heavily armed nation, with an estimated force of 200,000 men. It is feared, too, that Mussolini's program of expansion and alliances will run afoul of the "Little Entente," which in large measure was developed by Ninichich.

Hold Alliance "Disloyal"

The Jugoslavs are reported as regarding the Italo-Albanian alliance as "disloyal" to their country and other Balkan nations, and the Belgrade newspaper "Politika" printed a statement from an unconfirmed source in Belgrade that the pact contains a secret military clause, whereby Italy undertakes to go to the defense of the Albanian government if need be.

Official quarters in Paris, however, are without confirmation of the existence of such a clause.

The Serbians further assert that the military clause gives Italy naval bases at Dubrovnik, San Giovanni di Medua, Scutari and Avtona.

The view taken here is that the Albanian pact is the more serious when it is realized that Belgrade, long suspicious of Italy, has a secret treaty with Hungary, her northern neighbor, and it is known that Italy has been cultivating Greece, Jugoslavia's southern neighbor, for eighteen months.

Looks to France.

Jugoslavia is strengthened by the "little entente" alliance with Czechoslovakia and Roumania, but has always looked to France for support as the only nation with great military power. Jugoslavia has had its troubles with the Hungarian minority and the strongly conflicting racial characteristics of its peoples, like most of central Europe.

Albania has had a checkered career, both along the borders of Jugoslavia and by reason of banditry and insurrections within her own borders, the latest of which peaked out a week ago. The country is without railroads and has been greatly under Italian influence. This has always annoyed Jugoslavia and has aggravated skirmishes along the frontier, which have been intermittent since the armistice. This general situation is used to justify Jugoslavia's large armed forces and her military expenses, which are 28 per cent of her revenue.

League Issue Seen.

London, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—The conclusion of an Italo-Albanian pact, which has quickly brought about the fall of the Jugoslav cabinet and seems to threaten a new embroilment in the perennially troubled Balkans, is regarded here as essentially a matter for the league of nations, of which Albania is a member.

It is regarded as an undoubted triumph for Italian diplomacy and for that reason excites apprehension and suspicion, not only in Jugoslavia but also in France and other countries, for by giving Italy a virtual protectorate over Albania, it isolates Jugoslavia and permits Italy to assume complete control in the Adriatic.

Although the pact is said to be of a reciprocal nature, guaranteeing independence and territorial integrity for Albania, its main purpose from the Italian viewpoint is security in the Adriatic and the encirclement of Jugoslavia by precluding Albania from negotiating security pacts with either Jugoslavia or Greece.

It is expected now that Jugoslavia may turn to France, Hungary and Poland, and there is even talk of a complete new grouping, which might eventually bring about reconciliation between Jugoslavia and Bulgaria and the fruition of the scheme suggested by M. Briand, the French foreign minister, at the last League of Nations meeting for a rapprochement between Jugoslavia, Bulgaria and Hungary.

ANNE CALDWELL WINS
POINT N BALM SUIT

Judge Rules Out Questions as to Character of Her
Women Friends.

IS SUING FOR $500,000

Pittsburgh, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Trial of Miss Anne Caldwell's $500,000 breach of promise suit against John W. Hubbard, Pittsburgh manufacturer, was halted temporarily in Federal court today when a heated argument ensued over the character of the women the plaintiff associated with in 1921. Miss Caldwell, who is now in her late 30s, claims Hubbard proposed marriage to her. The plaintiff won the point when Judge W. H. S. Thompson refused to allow the defense to introduce evidence of such a nature.

Max Williams, Atlantic City cabaret owner, was on the stand when the argument opened. He had testified that Miss Caldwell was known to him as "Anne" and had frequented the place two and three nights a week with escorts early in 1921. Miss Caldwell has testified she was never in the cabaret until she met Hubbard there late in 1921.

"What kind of women did she associate with?" Williams asked.

Counsel for the plaintiff objected, contending the character of Miss Caldwell's associates was not mentioned in the affidavit of defense. The court sustained the objection, and later when the defense sought to amend the affidavit to cover the testimony in question Judge Thompson again ruled for the plaintiff. The defense noted an exception.

Numerous defense witnesses were heard during the day, including Norman, theatrical producer, and scenic designer. The defense sought to show that Miss Caldwell had obtained work in the movies after she had a comedy angle. She said she went west on the same train with Hubbard and that upon her return Hubbard had changed his mind about marrying her. Geddes testified on the same train as Miss Caldwell.

Arnold Genthe, New York photographer, said he had known Miss Caldwell for four years. Replying to a question put by defense counsel, he said Miss Caldwell came to him after her trip to California, told him she was suing Hubbard and wanted some press prints. He said he might have been before or after the newspapers published the story of the breach of promise suit.

C. C. Seide, Pittsburgh jeweler, identified a ring containing 3 pearls and 20 diamonds as one he sold to Hubbard in 1918. Miss Caldwell claims the ring was given her by Hubbard to seal their engagement in 1922.

MAYOR IS ELECTED IN STICKER BATTLE BY NEW BEDFORD

C. S. Ashley, in Hospital, Is Told of Victory Over Old Opponent.

WILL SERVE HIS 2ND
TERM AS EXECUTIVE

Victor Once Got $12,000 Gift for Sacrificing Business to City's Needs.

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Propped up among his pillows in Massachusetts General hospital, where he has been a patient for more than a month, Charles Sumner Ashley, of New Bedford, today received news of his overwhelming election to a twenty-third term as mayor of his native city. The election came unthought by Mr. Ashley, the result of a last-minute sticker campaign initiated by his friends.

The election was the most dramatic in the city of 125,000 has ever known, a complete antithesis to the dull, half-hearted turnout of voters which was expected until a week ago to return Edward R. Hathaway to office virtually unopposed. Mr. Ashley's sticker victory was believed due to his personal popularity and an educational advertising campaign by which his friends instructed the public in the use of the stickers. Mr. Ashley's election was entirely unexpected to him.

"It is wonderful. I didn't think it possible to elect any man on stickers for mayor of a city the size of New Bedford," he exclaimed.

He authorized his daughter, Miss Hannah B. Ashley, his constant companion at the hospital, to say for him that he considered his election under such circumstances the greatest tribute that could be paid to any citizen by his native city.

Mr. Ashley virtually retired from politics five years ago, declaring he had had enough. Five days before election, when he had sufficiently rallied from a major operation to be informed of the last-minute decision of his friends to put him in the field, he said: "I have repeatedly said during the last five years that I would never again on my own account be a candidate for mayor, but if the people themselves say they want me, I must and will accept."

The veteran mayor-elect was 68 in September. He looks 10 years younger. He has appeared before the voters as a candidate for mayor 27 times. He met defeat twice before he won his first election as mayor, and was defeated by twice thereafter, in 1914 and 1915, by Edward R. Hathaway, the man who in 1925 defeated him. Mr. Hathaway has gone down before him twice before, in 1913 and 1916.

In 1924, Mr. Ashley and his daughter made a trip around the world. His friends presented him a $3,000 letter of credit and a bon voyage gift. Earlier in his career, when he accepted the mayoralty against his wishes, to the detriment of his business interests, he had received a $12,000 gift from a Christmas gift to compensate for his sacrifice.

Suspension of business struck a heavy blow to Christmas shoppers. The bank mailed out last night 6,000 checks for $235,000 to holders of Christmas savings accounts. Depositors who have deposited a weekly sum with the bank for weeks were a part of the throng which milled about the closed doors today.

Hathaway, who had been employed by the bank 15 years, was convicted of forgery in Federal court four years ago, paying a fine and costs totaling $7,000 after pleading guilty.

Standard Oil Dividend
Nearly $200,000,000

New York, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Dividend payments by Standard Oil companies during the fourth quarter of the current year will reach the gigantic total of $161,666,456, or $19,062,297 more than was paid to shareholders in the third quarter of last year. This brings the total payments of the year to slightly less than $200,000,000, or $45,626,838 more than was paid in 1925, according to a compilation by Jenkins & Gwynne & Co. of the New York Stock Exchange.

Each of the four quarters showed increases over the corresponding quarters of 1925. The second, third and fourth quarter totals were all records for the respective quarters, while the first quarter total fell below that of 1913, in which a special distribution of over $30,000,000 was made by the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

Christmas is coming, but don't let that worry you. The suggestions under "Holiday Hints" will help you make a merry one!

Curfew on Cabarets Voted in New York

New York, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Mayor Walker's curfew law, designed to close cabarets in New York not later than 3 o'clock in the morning, passed the board of aldermen today. It lacks only the mayor's signature to become law. The local laws committee submitted a report favoring the bill.

"There has been altogether too much running wild in some of the night clubs," the report said. "The 'wild' stranger and the foolish native should have the check-rein applied a bit."

Parent-Teacher Body
Denies It Is "Red"

New York, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Assertion that it has in no way aided in the spreading of communistic or unpatriotic propaganda was made today by the national congress of parents and teachers. The statement was issued in reply to charges made last month in Charlotte, N. C., by speakers at a meeting of the executive committee of the American Legion and the legion auxiliary.

Today's announcement was issued by Mrs. A. H. Reeve, president.

CASHIER, $300,000 SHORT,
ENDS LIFE; BANK CLOSES

Memphis, Tenn., Employe
First Phones Word of Shortage to Capitalist.

CHRISTMAS CHECKS OUT

Memphis financial circles were stirred today by the third sensation within five weeks when business of the American Savings Bank & Trust Co. was placed in the hands of State bank examiners after an employee admitted shortages of $300,000, and then killed himself.

Clarence Henochsberg, assistant cashier and teller, fired a bullet into his heart after telephoning to Able Plough, Memphis capitalist, of the shortage and saying he would kill himself unless help could be obtained to save him.

Accountants at work on the books of the institution tonight sought to learn the extent of the bank's losses and to discover the relationship, if any, between Henochsberg's activities and shortages found last Thursday.

Parke, clerk in the same bank, Parke was still missing tonight. His alleged defalcations were not set at $50,000. Today's developments recalled the flight, October 27, of Courtney Gilson, young teller of the Bank of Commerce & Trust, and disclosure of a $465,000 shortage in his accounts. Gilson's whereabouts, too, remained a mystery, but the bank's operations were not affected because Gilson's shortage was made up from undivided profits and his bond.

Harry Cohen, president of the American Savings Bank & Trust Co., declared after Henochsberg's death that depositors would not be affected by the bank's losses, indicating that stockholders would make good the losses. The bank's capital stock was $100,000 and its undivided profits $106,000. Deposits were fixed at $2,151,000 and "other liabilities" at $189,000.

Suspension of business struck a heavy blow to Christmas shoppers. The bank mailed out last night 6,000 checks for $235,000 to holders of Christmas savings accounts. Depositors who have deposited a weekly sum with the bank for weeks were a part of the throng which milled about the closed doors today.

Various Fields.

ONE WOMAN IS HONORED

New York, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—A negro housecleaner from Greenwich Village who uses artists' brushes as well as scrubbing brushes today received a $600 prize and a gold medal in recognition of outstanding creative work by the Harmon foundation and the commission on the church and race relations of the Federal Council of Churches.

The award was one of the first group of an annual series of awards to negroes for achievements in various fields. First prizes were awarded to six and second prizes of $200 and bronze medals to six others. A single prize of $500 was awarded to a white man for improving interracial relations.

Prizes were awarded in art, business, science, education, literature and religion. No award was made for music as the committee decided that no original creative work had been submitted which merited award.

One woman's name appears as winner of the first prize in the field of education. The prize winners follow:

Art: Palmer C. Hayden, New York; first; Hale Woodruff, Indianapolis, second.

Science: James C. Evans, Miami, Fla.; W. A. Daniel, Atlanta, Ga.

BRUCE-SHEPPARD PROHIBITION DEBATE IGNORED BY SENATE

Maryland Member Talks on Grievances Before Nearly Empty Chamber.

TEXAN ONLY AUDITOR FOR MOST OF SPEECH

Reads Prepared Reply That Wets Have No Chance of Repealing Law.

Senator Bruce (Democrat), of Maryland, stood virtually alone in the Senate at noon December 7 and adjourned at 4:40 p. m. until today at 12 o'clock.

Received the annual message of President Coolidge.

After brief debate adopted, 70 to 7, a resolution directing committee on privileges and elections to investigate and report on bribery charges against Senator Gould, Republican, of Maine.

Senator Bruce, Democrat, of Maryland, spoke at length on prohibition. Chairman Borah, of foreign relations committee, gave notice he would call up the poison gas treaty today and move to proceed to its consideration in open executive session.

President transmitted large number of recess appointments, including members of Federal Trade Commission, tariff commission, Shipping Board, foreign service, judiciary, promotions in the army and a long list of postmasters. Charles V. McNichols and George C. Aukum were reappointed as judges of the District Municipal court, and recess appointments of Commissioners Dougherty and Tullafiero were sent to Senate.

Democrats at party conference agreed to demand enactment of tax reduction legislation and pledged support to the Simmons-Garner plan.

Charles V. McNichols, of Kentucky, introduced bill containing a new Muscle Shoals proposal submitted by a group of financiers headed by C. Beaumont Clapp.

Resolution designed to rescind American adherence to world court, introduced by Senator Trammell, Democrat, of Florida.

Creation of permanent form of government for Virgin Islands is proposed in a bill by Senator Bingham, Republican, of Connecticut.

Senator Blewett, Democrat, of South Carolina, introduced a bill designed to prevent double prosecution for the same offense, applicable especially to prohibition cases.

Senator Edwards, Democrat, of New Jersey, told the Senate that after the holidays he would call up his resolution for a national referendum to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

Met at noon, December 7, and adjourned at 4:40 p. m. out of respect to the memory of the late Speaker, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, until today at 12 o'clock.

Received annual message of President Coolidge.

Budget estimates and the President's message on that subject will be received today.

Irrigation committee decided upon immediate resumption of consideration of the Colorado river Boulder dam project.

Mr. McCown, of Oklahoma, introduced bill to create a Federal farm commission with power to standardize production of cotton, wheat, oats, rice, swine, cattle and tobacco.

District of Columbia committee will hold its first session today and formulate program for session.

Pen Women's Group Meets.

Musie appreciation, the technique of composition and the history of music, were discussed last night in papers read before the second meeting of the music group of the District League of American Pen Women in the clubhouse, 1709 H street northwest. Mrs. Sade Catherine Coles, chairman of the group, presided.

The wets have about as much chance of repealing the prohibition law as a humming bird has of flying to the planet Mars.

The matter, thus ending in a draw, Senator Bruce and Senator Sheppard, together with two or three others who had strolled in, adjourned and went home.

MEMBERS OF HOUSE BOW HEADS IN BRIEF TRIBUTE TO CANNON

Eight of His Forty-Six Years of Service Were Passed as Speaker.

ADJOURN FOLLOWING READING BY MADDEN

Many Qualities Made Him Representative Citizen, Resolution Adopted Declares.

The older members who served with him and the younger ones who knew him joined in the tribute of the House to former Speaker Joseph G. Cannon yesterday.

Republicans and Democrats alike, they listened with a quietness which is not their usual wont to the brief tribute by Chairman Martin B. Madden, of the appropriations committee.

Then they adjourned out of respect to the former member.

In his 46 years of service the venerable Speaker had passed many resolutions of regret for departed colleagues, but for him was the unusual honor of House adjournment for a member who died out of harness.

Chairman Madden's resolution read: "Resolved, That the following minute be spread upon the record of the House of Representatives:

Member Forty-Six Years.

"Honorable Joseph G. Cannon died in Danville, Ill., November 12, 1926. For 46 years he had been a member of this House; for 10 years as chairman of the committee on appropriations; for 8 years its Speaker; and for several years chairman of the committee on rules. His service terminated with the Sixty-seventh Congress.

"Within this chamber the scene of his life's greatest activities were laid. Here he rendered services to his country which placed him in the front rank of American statesmanship. Here he exhibited characteristics which compelled respect and won admiration.

"Powerful ability, intrinsic worth, strength of character, brought him popular fame and congressional leadership. In him depth and breadth of intellect, with a full and well-rounded development, had produced a giant who towered above his fellows and impressed them with his power and his wisdom.

A distinguished statesman, a lofty patriot, a unique orator and unmatchable debater, a master of logic and wit, the great and representative citizen of the American Republic has gone into history.

"Resolved, That in honor of the distinguished dead, the House do now adjourn."

Most fathers will feel a lot more like Santa Claus after they have looked through the Christmas Gift Suggestions under Holiday Hints in The Washington Post.

SENATOR MCKINLEY IS DEAD; WAS ILL SEVERAL MONTHS of the last session of Congress. Senator Albert B. Cummins, of Iowa, and Senator Bert M. Fernald, of Maine. All were Republicans.

William B. McKinley's career of more than 20 years in Congress covered the insurgency among national legislators, the Roosevelt bolt of 1912, and the primary scandals of 1926. By his own avowal, he "blundered into politics" because his business was running so smoothly he had nothing else to do.

"I really blundered into politics," the senator once said. "I was getting unnecessary in my business. Things went on without me. So when it was suggested to me that I run for Congress, I accepted just for something to do. I never regretted it."

McKinley's "blunder" lasted from the time the Republicans of Champaign, Ill., and the nineteenth congressional district, sent him to the lower House of Congress in 1905 until he was defeated for the party nomination by Frank L. Smith, of Dwight, Ill., in the 1926 primary as McKinley was finishing his first six-year term in the Senate.

Nearly All Own Money.

It was the huge expenditures in that last campaign, that brought a Senate investigating committee to Chicago after the Pennsylvania primary expense scandal had aroused national attention.

The Chicago hearing developed that while Senator McKinley had spent about $350,000, it virtually was all his own money.

Managers of his successful opponent, Col. Smith, who was chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, accounted for approximately $300,000, much of it contributed by executives of public utilities, an industrial field in which Senator McKinley had made a fortune and been interested for years.

His defeat was followed immediately by the senator's decline in health and serious illness of sciatic rheumatism.

Party regularity was a cardinal principle with McKinley. He was a friend and neighbor of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, of Danville, who represented the Eighteenth congressional district, adjoining McKinley's old district, the Nineteenth, in the days when Cannon was known as the "car" of the House of Representatives and insurgency arose among legislators because of party discipline.

McKinley and an uncle were in the banking business in Champaign and branched into the public utilities industry, acquiring traction, electric light, gas and other interests which eventually were known as the McKinley Syndicate. Their chief properties were the Illinois Traction system, which built the McKinley bridge over the Mississippi river at St. Louis, one of the most costly electric railway structures in the world.

Bought From Cannons.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon and his brother William, also bankers, owned the Danville street railways, which they eventually were chiefly disposed of to the Standard and other utilities interests.

Always a regular Republican, from "standpatter" times to "farm bloc" days, McKinley directed the administration campaign for the renomination of President William Howard Taft in 1912 when the Rooseveltians split the Republican party.

McKinley issued a statement describing Roosevelt as an "Ajax defying the lightning" and denied the Roosevelt charges of stolen convention seats. He challenged Roosevelt to come from his Oyster Bay, N. Y., home to the storm center, Chicago, and predicted an unsuccessful bolt from the Republican party. Roosevelt accepted the challenge, and soon after his arrival in Chicago his adherents left the party and organized the Progressive, or bull moose, convention and nominated Roosevelt for the Presidency.

The defeat of both Roosevelt and Taft by Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic nominee, took McKinley down to defeat in his home district and he was ousted of Congress in 1913 and 1914. He again was elected to the House, however, and in 1921 was elected to the Senate by a few thousand votes—the votes of women—over Col. Smith, who finally defeated him in 1926.

Most Traveled in U. S.

Besides owning transportation lines, McKinley believed that he was the greatest traveler in the United States. He had traveled 1,500,000 miles in 25 years—more than 1,000,000 miles of the total in 9 years—including 30 trips across the Atlantic, three journeys around the world, several voyages across the Pacific ocean and to South America, a coast trip to Cuba and Panama, and had visited every country in the world except Russia and Turkey.

Senator McKinley was born in Petersburg, Ill., September 6, 1856, the son of a Presbyterian minister. He worked on the farm and spent two years at the University of Illinois, of which he became a trustee in 1902. When 25 years old he began his public utilities career by building a waterworks system in his home city of Champaign.

The senator supported President Coolidge's advocacy of, and voted for, adherence of the United States to the world court.

Sympathy of Coolidges Sent to Kin of McKinley

(By The Associated Press.)

President Coolidge last night sent the following telegram to Miss Julia Mattis, Champaign, Ill., niece of Senator McKinley:

"The report has just been received of the death of your distinguished kinsman, Senator McKinley. He has had a long and useful career in which he has been honored greatly by his fellow citizens and benefited them directly by his generous charities. I am gratified to call him my friend. To you and his other loved ones I offer my sympathy, in which Mrs. Coolidge joins."

Deneen Cites McKinley's Power in Senate Groups

Senator Deneen, of Illinois, issued the following statement on the death of Senator McKinley:

"Senator McKinley's unusually successful career as a business man and his long service in the House of Representatives made him a power in the Senate. His clearness of mind, his prompt decision, his unwavering attention to details and his wide knowledge of the business of the government gave him influence in the committee and on the floor of the Senate. During his illness several senators of the committee on which he served told me how much the committee missed him and in what high esteem his judgment was held.

"Senator McKinley was a man of unusual intellectual ability and force of character. He was a leader in everything he undertook. He had the gift of making friends and regarded as a privilege rendering them service. He gave public affairs the same diligent attention which made him successful in his personal affairs.

Senator McKinley had a great interest in young people. Many an ambitious student has been helped to an education and to a start in life through his assistance. He made liberal donations to colleges and universities, churches and to religious organizations for young people, to hospitals, to homes for the aged and infirm and particularly to those institutions which served the poor and the less fortunate. His talents, his energies and his fortune were used to help his fellow men, their institutions and their government. His death marks the closing of a career of great usefulness and service, but the influence he exerted and the activities he set in motion long will survive him."

McKinley Death Big Loss To Nation, Dawes Declares

"The passing of Senator McKinley will be mourned universally," Vice President Dawes said. "His life was devoted to constructive efforts along lines inspiring to the benefit of his State and his country, both in his business and public activities.

"Senator McKinley was a singularly unassuming man. His philanthropies covered a wide range, not only including large gifts in the cause of education, but also extending to innumerable cases among the needy.

"In Congress he was a wise, patriotic and fearless public official. His influence there was great. He was industrious in informing himself on public questions, and his business experience added to the weight given to his conclusions.

"His death is a great loss to the nation, to the State and to his friends."

FRANK SMITH HELD UNLIKELY TO TAKE MCKINLEY SEAT NOW

Believed Small Will Not Appear Him, or That Latter Will Decline.

SENATE CLASH AWAITS ILLINOIS MAN'S ARRIVAL

Campaign Manager Scouting to Learn What Would Be Result of Acceptance.

The news of the death of Senator McKinley, of Illinois, was received by the Capital in which he has been a familiar figure for so many years as the curtain falls upon a tragedy of public life.

Frank L. Smith, who was elected last month to succeed Senator McKinley in the next Congress is the logical appointee to the vacancy and ordinarily there would be no doubt that he would come to Washington by appointment at once and serve during the remainder of the Congress which expires March 4.

There is reason to believe, however, that either Gov. Small will not appoint Smith or that the latter will decline the appointment should it come to him. There is the further possibility, though a slight one, that the seat will be left vacant.

The uncertainty arises from the fact that a move will be made to exclude Smith whenever he shall appear to take his seat on the ground of disqualification for the office, due to his acceptance of campaign contributions from the heads of the utility corporations subject to his regulation as chairman of the Illinois commerce commission.

Moore Scouting Here.

If Smith should not present himself until the beginning of the next Congress to which he was elected the move to deny him a seat could not be made before December, 1927, unless the Seventeenth Congress should be called in an extra session.

Former Representative Allan Moore, who was Smith's campaign manager, has been here for a couple of days scouting to determine what would happen if Smith were to accept appointment to the McKinley vacancy. He conferred yesterday with former Senator Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, and with a number of Republican leaders in the Senate and last night was advising Smith and Gov. Small on the situation. Senators informed Moore the appointment of Smith to the Senate at this time would precipitate the move in this session to exclude him.

BATTLE MEMORIAL LIBRARY DEDICATED

Bishops Conduct Ceremony at American University Opening New Building.

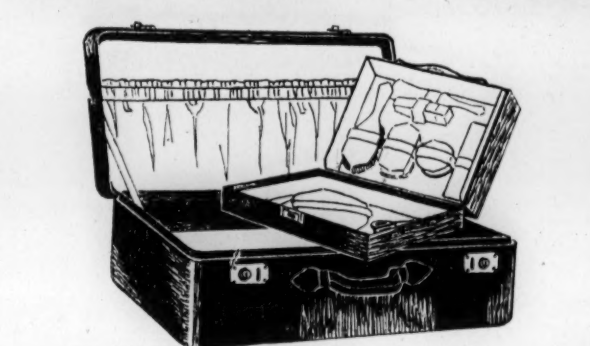

Bishop John W. Hamilton, chancellor emeritus, and Bishop William F. McDowell, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Chancellor Lucius C. Clark, members of the faculty and students and alumni participated in the formal dedication of the Battle memorial at American university last night.

The memorial is a building costing $100,000 on the campus of the university, and will be used as a library. It was given in honor of Gordon Battelle, of Columbus, Ohio, by his estate.

Mr. Battelle was a member of the board of trustees of the university and Chancellor Clark paid his memory high honor in the course of the dedication ceremonies.

Col. Peter M. Anderson formally presented the memorial to the university.

WATCH YOUR THROAT!

Don't let it become serious!

AS you probably know, certain harmful bacteria are constantly present in the mouth and throat. And unless proper precautions are employed these disease germs may often get the upper hand and multiply more rapidly than nature can fight them off.

At such times your throat becomes irritated—Nature's way of telling you there is danger ahead.

Particularly at this time of year everyone should watch the throat very carefully. The ideal mouth and throat protection is the systematic use of Listerine, the safe antiseptic.

Its regular use by the entire family, as a mouth wash and gargle, is an easy way to be on the safe side.

Also, then you will be on the polite side in regard to that insidious condition, halitosis (unpleasant breath).—Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, U. S. A.

CONCILIATION GAINS IN LABOR DISPUTES, SECRETARY FINDS

Habit of Mediation Growing in Industry, Says Annual Report of Davis.

IMMIGRATION QUOTA REGULATION PRAISED

Preference in Admission of Near Relatives of Aliens
Already Proposed.

(By the Associated Press.)
There is real hope for a reduction in the number of labor controversies in American industry because the habit of conciliating and mediating disputes is growing stronger, Secretary Davis, of the Labor Department, said yesterday in his annual report.

So long as enterprising men and women engaged in industry bend their energies toward advancement there will be differences of opinion, he said, but with the principles of conciliation being more generally accepted year by year the nation is bound to see a great reduction in the number of disputes reaching a stage where a stoppage of production occurs.

Administration of the immigration laws, vested in the Labor Department during the past year was "the most satisfactory since the adoption by Congress in 1921 of a limitation policy," Mr. Davis declared. Due in part to the stationing of United States medical and immigration inspectors abroad, the number of immigrants excluded after a long journey to this country was reduced to a minimum.

"Thus there has been realized the second step toward the ideal of selected immigration," the Secretary said. "The act of 1924 which gives to United States consular officers abroad a certain amount of discretion in the granting of visas where doubt arises as to the admissibility of an intending immigrant was the first."

"The stationing of our immigration and health officers abroad in the countries furnishing 90 per cent of the immigration is the second. It is my opinion that a third and final step in a complete process of selecting immigration can be accomplished if Congress will but approve some method of priority in the granting of what are now referred to as 'non-preference' quota visas. Of quota immigrants, on the ground of humanity, I would provide for preference to be issued to husbands, wives, and minor children of alien residents in the United States."

Wives and unmarried children under 18 years of a citizen of the United States are non-quota immigrants under the act of 1924, which is as it should be, but the class should be extended to include the husband of an American citizen and a provision should be added permitting the entrance, if the quota be exhausted, of minor unmarried children and dependent fathers and mothers of citizens of the United States."

The Secretary repeated recommendations first made in 1925, that Congress allow the importation of special or skilled labor, under careful restriction, when need exists in American industry. This expansion of the total immigration possible, he suggested, should be balanced off by empowering the President to shut off immigration entirely during periods of industrial depression in the United States.

Never has the nation been in a situation more prosperous and contented, Mr. Davis said.

"America is today the richest country that has ever existed," he declared. "The prosperity of America is one in which the American workers fully share. The poor we still have, but hopeless poverty except, perhaps, among the aged and infirm, is now almost unknown."

HOUSE DISTRICT GROUP TO MEET THIS MORNING

Chairman Zihlman Calls on Members to Map Program of Local Measures.

FISCAL BILL IN DISPUTE

The House District committee is to hold its first meeting of the session this morning at 10 o'clock.

Chairman Zihlman plans to get the members together with a view to working out a program and for an informal discussion of the various pending proposals. Several bills are still in sub-committees and reports as to their status and prospect of progress will be made.

It is considered unlikely that the District will be given its day in the House Monday. Appropriation bills will be moving and Chairman Zihlman is of the opinion that Majority Leader Tilson will not want to interrupt them.

There are about six measures already on the House calendar, two of them highly controversial. They are the Zihlman fiscal relations bill and the measure by Representative Gaseque, of South Carolina, providing for an elective board of education.

Representative Cramton, of Michigan, sponsor of the $9,000,000 Federal lump-sum contribution plan, and who usually has his way in District matters, made known yesterday that he was unalterably opposed to the fiscal relations bill. Instead he wants to write his lump-sum contribution plan into definite law.

For this reason Zihlman is afraid to call up his fiscal relations bill. Cramton could probably get enough votes to substitute it with his plan.

HOOVER ADVOCATES REFORM IN BUREAUS AT MINE CONGRESS

General Reorganization of Departments Needed, Commerce Secretary Says.

EXPANSION OF FEDERAL POWER IS CONDEMNED

Frank W. Mondell Backs the State Control of Public Land Resources.

A general reorganization of the government departments was advocated yesterday by Secretary of Commerce Hoover at the opening session of the twenty-ninth annual convention of the American Mining Congress in the Mayflower hotel.

"Much of the tendency toward the centralizing of power in the Federal government," he said, "can be traced to the attitude of business in bringing to Washington their agitation for changes in government regulations affecting their industries, and to the States in not assuming the burden in certain affairs of government."

Secretary Hoover, in advocating a reorganization of the government departments, declared that "the confusion of functions must be eliminated to do away with the causes of government expansion."

State Control Favored.

Former Representative Frank W. Mondell, of Wyoming, declared that the States should have control of public lands and mineral and other resources for development under private operation.

The hard coal industry must receive a more remunerative return on the smaller sizes of its coal if the prices on domestic sizes are to be reduced, Dr. E. W. Parker, director of the anthracite bureau of information, told the Congress.

Mine operators from all sections of the country are attending the convention, which will continue through Friday. The morning session was given over to reports from typical branches of the industry—gold, silver, lead, zinc, coal and nonmetals.

Harry L. Gandy, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, elicited hearty applause when he attacked the attempts that are being made to enact legislation to regulate the mining industry in his trade against such legislation, he concentrated his

Varying Editorial Comment On the President's Message

NEW YORK.

World (Dem.).—The President has always found tax reduction good political tactics. That is one animating motive today after the defeats of the November elections. Then too, fearing that Congress is not wise enough to let this money go to debt reduction, the President has seized upon the rebate or credit plan as a counter move to the Democrats and insurgent Republicans.

Herald-Tribune (Rep.).—The President is not in love with prolixity or repetition. But he is preaching a body of doctrines which holds together admirably and of which the country does not tire. He is the foremost exponent of national economy and efficiency. He has made the virtue of governmental saving understood with the people as it has seldom been understood before.

In the message the President has again stated the import of his political philosophy, which has appealed so strongly to all Americans.

Times (Dem.).—Those who search the President's message to discover whether it gives any hint of his being a candidate again in 1928 will be able to find only two or three passages which seem to have a political bearing. One of these is his reference to the obligation of the Federal government to protect "the colored people of the nation from the crime of lynching. The other is the part dealing with prohibition, in which he takes the strongest ground for the enforcement of the law, calls for joint action by the States which ought not to attempt to 'shift the burden wholly upon the Federal agencies,' and declares that 'failure to support the Constitution and observe the law ought not to be tolerated by public opinion.' No doubt these are the President's sincere convictions, but it is obvious that they are of a sort to make him the favorite son of the Anti-saloon league.

PHILADELPHIA.

Inquirer (Rep.).—Prosperity is the backbone of the message, which is delivered through Congress to the people. It will please them. From it they will learn the President's determined hand of Calvin Coolidge remains at the helm. No change. No plunges into extravagance since, "nothing is more destructive of the progress of the nation."

NORFOLK.

Virginian Pilot (Dem.).—The message is pre-eminently a typical Coolidge tract on the country's essential prosperity. Its international rightness and desirability of refraining from any legislative interference with the basic public program that is responsible for these boons, but as a clarification of administrative purpose in fields peculiarly open to executive influence its relatively speaking a total loss.

fire on the Copeland bill and the Parker bill.

Others who spoke were H. W. Seaman, Hugh Shirkie, Walter Barnum, Frank M. Smith, J. D. Conover, W. Mont Perry, H. T. Edgar, George B. Harrington, and Judge Nathan B. Williams.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Chronicle.—The keynote of the message is that things are pretty good as they are, and ought not to be endangered. The message is more palpably a political challenge than any Coolidge state paper that has preceded it. He has taken cognizance of the threats of the opposition. If they are going to make this session a fight for political advantage, the President is ready to meet them and he forestalls their attack by choosing the battleground.

CINCINNATI.

Commercial-Tribune (Rep.).—The President finds too great a presumption that because an abuse exists it is the duty of the national government to provide a remedy. Yet he does find a field for Federal action in the enactment of antilynching legislation and in enforcement of the prohibition laws. Our policy of national defense is viewed with approval, but there is no amplification of the Mexican situation.

ST. PAUL.

Pioneer Press (Rep.).—The President's annual message is disappointing of any hope that may have been felt that the administration was now ready to re-examine the agricultural question. Nothing will be found in the message to justify any expectation that the opposition he has exerted against farm relief, in the only sense of the word that means anything, will be relaxed.

PORTLAND, ME.

Evening Express (Rep.).—The President stresses the policy of the governmental economy which he declares proved sound, is opposed to immediate tax reduction, favors farm relief, while opposed to price fixing, and has a word of praise for the nations who have funded their obligations to us. The President takes a firm stand on prohibition.

LOS ANGELES.

Times (Rep.).—Voicing through American idealism and sound common sense, stoutly advocating needed measures of reform, reforming policy of economy and expressing the good will of the nation to the people of the earth, President Coolidge's message to the thirty-ninth Congress in its final session is an inspiring document. As a message it is a practical side of our political life. It addresses itself not only to Congress but to the whole people.

ST. LOUIS.

Globe Democrat (Rep.).—It is pleasing to observe that the President's rigid ideas of economy do not prevent him from giving continued support to the development of the waterways of the country. Expenditure of this character is explaining the President's with economy, for "it is in the nature of capable investment." That, beyond the vision of the President, is common sense if the work to be done is concentrated on a definite constructive program such as the government has now in hand.

DETROIT.

Free Press.—The part of the message relating to the subject of national defense is a tribute labored at times and in some of its paragraphs not very convincing. The statement, "It can not be said that our country is neglecting our national defense," sounds unpleasantly like an echo from one of the prewar utterances of President Wilson, who changed his mind later on.

CHICAGO.

Tribune (Rep.).—The President's address to the Congress is the report of a successful executive of a highly prosperous concern. It does not contain any tall talk and does not promise the millennium. But we have a notion that Mr. Coolidge's fellow citizens are in the main rather satisfied with the situation and will read their chief executive's presentation with substantial acquiescence.

BOSTON.

Herald (Rep.).—It is marked by a greater use of superlative than is characteristic of the President's style. He advocates "most earnestly" and expresses "very strong" convictions in favor of tax relief. But, as a matter of fact, he has altered the position he took on November 9 when he came out with an appeal for nonpartisan consideration of the suggestion he then offered for a rebate, or refund, of some portion of the taxes payable this year, perhaps 10 or 15 per cent. He said it could be done in time if not made a party matter.

Navy Fund Inquiry By House Committee

(By the Associated Press.)
The question of whether adequate funds are being provided for maintenance of the American navy will be inquired into today by the House naval committee.

A number of its members feel that frequently published reports that the navy is below the 5-5-3 ratio authorized by the Washington arms conference treaty should not be ignored and that the time has come for general survey of how the fleet compares with those of other nations. Secretary Wilbur has been asked to appear for questioning with Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones and Andrew Long.

Senate Republicans White House Guests

(By the Associated Press.)
At another White House breakfast conference yesterday President Coolidge talked over legislative problems with Senators Hale, of Maine; Moses of New Hampshire; Phipps, of Colorado; Fess, of Ohio; Metcalf, of Rhode Island; Goff, of West Virginia; McMaster, of South Dakota, and Pine, of Oklahoma, all Republicans.

Cold Forces Houghton To Cancel Irish Trip

Mr. Houghton sails on the Leviathan on December 14 for a Christmas holiday at his home in Cornell, N. Y., after which he will confer with President Coolidge at Washington, returning to his post on the Berengaria on January 8.

Engineers' Society Elects Schwab Head

New York, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, today was elected president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers for the coming year.

Other officers elected were: Vice president, Charles L. Newcomb, of Springfield, Mass.; Prof. Everett O. Eastwood, University of Washington, Seattle; and Edward R. Fish, of St. Louis; treasurer, Erik Oberg, of New York; managers, Paul Doty, of St. Paul, Minn.; Ralph E. Planders, Springfield, Vt.; and C. N. Lauer, of Philadelphia.

Most fathers will feel a lot more like Santa Claus after they have looked through the Christmas Gift Suggestions under Holiday Hints in The Washington Post.

Seventy-four Years of Craftsmanship

SEVENTY-FOUR years ago, the Studebaker founders produced their first vehicle. It was well made, honestly sold; adhered to rigid principles of business integrity and rendered thirty years of satisfactory service.

Studebaker facilities then were two forges, $68 in cash, three employees and an ideal.

With the passing of the years, Studebaker facilities have grown to tremendous proportions. Now, actual net assets are $100,000,000, with $60,000,000 in plants and property. There are 17,000 employees, 5,000 branch houses and dealers, 5,000 service stations, and the Studebaker name is a household word throughout the world.

Production in 1925 totaled 134,664 motor cars, valued at $161,362,944.

Growth has spun a business romance; woven an industrial miracle.

One possession only is unchanged by time. The founders' ideal of unyielding integrity in every business transaction remains intact.

Tableaux Mark Ball.

History was revived in pagentry last night at the Mayflower hotel at the ball for the benefit of William and Mary college, the oldest institution of its kind in America. The history of William and Mary was depicted in five tableaux, under the direction of "Water" Tuckerman, when most of the season's debutantes, in lovely gowns of the period represented, took part.

The stage at the end of the large ballroom was used, each group descending and standing grouped at the sides of the stage as their tableau ended, until the end of the pageant, when the entire cast marched down the length of the ballroom and through the door at the lower end. Miss Mary Hews Phillips, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Ze Barney Phillips, who made her debut yesterday, was Queen Mary, while Mr. John Wainwright was King William.

Mrs. Tuckerman headed the receiving line at the ball, and with her were Mrs. Claude Swanson, Mrs. William Bailey Lamar, Mrs. Cary Grayson, Mrs. James Francis Sullivan, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. William Cabell Bruce.

Mr. Tuckerman made the presentation. Mr. William Bowie Clarke was chairman of the men's floor committee, and Mr. J. W. Somerville was chairman of the William and Mary college graduate association. Mr. Forbes Amory, Mr. Lynch Luquer and Mr. Tuckerman acted as stage managers.

The first pageant represented "The first college planned in America," and was sponsored by Mrs. Frank Hight. In her group were Miss Barbara Hight, Miss Adelaide Douglas, Miss Harriet Huntress, Miss Frances Stewart, Mr. Robert Henderson, Mr. Mannix Walker, Mr. Frank Corbett, Mr. Frederick A. Sweet, Capt. Hubert W. Beyette and Lieut. Francis J. Grayling.

Mrs. Copley Amory's Group.

Mrs. Copley Amory sponsored the second group, which showed the presentation of the royal charter. The ladies of the court were Miss Katharine Amory and Miss Harriet Huntress, and the courtiers and soldiers were Mr. Frederick Le Clercq, Mr. George Abell, Mr. Walter Grey and Mr. Harold Smith, and Mrs. Maud Howell Smith was the herald.

The third group, the college receiving the coat of arms in 1694, was sponsored by Miss Helmann. Those taking part were Miss Lydia Archbold, Miss Helene Helmann, Miss Claire Helmann, Miss Ellen Wise Greenhaw, Miss Dorothy Mondell and Mr. Kenneth Smoot, Mr. Arthur A. Verner, Mr. Loy Henderson, Mr. Emanuel Lyons and Lieut. Thomas D. White.

The fourth group, which portrayed the first college in America to have a full staff, was under the patronage of Mrs. Philip Morrison Julien. In her group were Mr. Begere, who represented the president of the college; Mr. Touceda, who was the college professor; Mr. Calhoun, Mr. Reay and Mr. Frank Addison Brastow 2d, who took the part of Mr. George Wythe, the writing master; and Miss Mary Page Julien, Miss Louise Fitzhugh, Miss Nancy Hamilton, and Miss Eleanor Bryan Smith.

Medal Presentation Shown.

The fifth group was the first college in America to receive medals prizes, and showed the colonial governor of Virginia presenting medals in 1771. In this group Lieut. McDonald took the part of Botetourt, Lieut. Frederick T. Henney the part of George Washington, and Lieut. M. E. Sorley the part of Col. Charles Lewis. Others in the group were, Miss Elizabeth Fries, Miss Olive Sherley, Miss Florence Mariatt, Miss Mabel Carolyn Meade, Miss Julia Carpenter, Lieut. F. S. Tandy, Lieut. E. C. Itchner, and Mr. C. V. Christy. Mr. and Mrs. Tuckerman entertained at dinner last evening at the Mayflower in honor of Miss Katherine Amory and Mrs. Tuckerman's niece, Miss Lillian Tuckerman. The guests were Miss Salie Hews Phillips, Miss Elizabeth Parker, Miss Betty Ives, Princess Ida Cantuzene, Miss Laura Towne, Miss Emily Darrell, Mrs. James Francis Sullivan, Mr. Walter Gray, Mr. George Abell, Mr. Harold Smith, Mr. Frederick LeClercq, Lieut. Francis J. Grayling, Capt. Bayette, Mr. Cortlandt Parker, Mr. Forbes

DEATH TOLL OF STORM IS INCREASED TO 28

Wreck of Schooner Rudolph Costs Eight Lives—Cold in New York Kills Four.

FISHING CRAFT SUFFER

New York, Dec. 7 (By A. P.)—Death and wreckage tolls of the icy gales that have lashed the North Atlantic coast since Saturday night mounted higher today, while people in several Northeastern States shivered in the coldest weather in years for this time of the season.

Eight lives were lost when the Canadian schooner Ella M. Rudolph was pounded into wreckage at Brook Cove, near Catalina, off the Nova Scotia coast, after being driven ashore at the height of the storm last night. This was the ninth schooner to be wrecked off the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick coasts, and brought to 28 the number of deaths caused by the winter storm in the Northeastern States and off eastern Canada. Four deaths from the cold were reported in this city today.

Seven men, comprising the crew of the schooner W. M. Reinhardt, were rescued by breeches buoy early today after the gale had driven the craft ashore at Point Race off Provincetown, Mass. Three members of the crew of the small fishing vessel Clarence were taken to Philadelphia aboard the steamer Karma, after being picked up off Nantucket.

The continued raging of the gale added to the enormous losses of fishermen and shippers along the north Atlantic coast. Lunenburg, the leading fishing port of Canada, suffered heavily, the loss of a dozen fishermen's boats being reported today.

New England States and parts of Pennsylvania had the coldest weather for early December in several years. Orle, in the Nipponese valley, Pennsylvania, reported a temperature of 26 degrees below zero.

Chicago, Dec. 7 (By A. P.)—Three men were found dead today, apparently the result of a sleet storm here. Two deaths resulted from falls while the third was due to an automobile accident.

FIGHT FOR CITY IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM GOES TO CONGRESS

apprehension that when the Federal government begins work on its program they may have to put some of their fire houses and police precincts in a tent. There has been a suggestion, and one that has generally been well received, that an entirely new municipal group of buildings be erected in the area now occupied by the Center market.

$25,000,000 Cost Involved.

Senator Smoot and Chairman Elliott are not ready, however, to include any such project in their proposal to acquire the outstanding property south of the Avenue. Their plan is to make it a brief proposal authorizing the acquisition of the property, which will involve an outlay of approximately $25,000,000.

It is quite a distance, it is pointed out, from authority to acquire this land to an appropriation with which to buy it, and then when it is bought to the question of what is to be done with it.

In the meantime the park commission's inability to purchase park sites within the limitation prescribed by Congress and the commissioners' similar handicap in regard to school sites is to be threshed out. This has no direct bearing on the $25,000,000 project, as the Federal government is not held to the 125 per cent limitation, but it may affect the attitude of some members in the House toward this program.

It does affect immediately and directly the acquisition of further park sites as well as school sites. Of the $600,000 appropriated for park purchases at the last session the park commission reported that it had been able to expend only the $100,000 around which Congress placed no restrictions.

Seventeen Transactions Made.

For the purchases making up the expenditure of $314,934.76 which the commission reported it had to pay from the House toward this program. Seventeen transactions were reported. Two were lower than the assessment—two a tract in Klinge valley east of Connecticut avenue, purchased from Kennedy Brothers, being assessed at $15,200 and acquired for $13,436.54, and another, a square obtained from the Chevy Chase Land Co. for $7,500 as against an assessment of $7,684.64.

The commission in its report gave, in most cases, only the last names of the vendor. Thus a lot acquired from Bennett assessed at $286, cost the commission $1,105; a lot from Lancaster assessed at $304, cost $1,138.50. A tract in Klinge valley, west of Connecticut avenue assessed at $1,485, cost $1,661.72, only 11 per cent above the assessment.

Other transactions follow:

From Lloyd, one lot assessed at $306, cost $1,145; from Cox, 96,248 square feet at Fort Stevens assessed at $16,352, cost $22,000; from trustees of Brown, 3,532,716 feet in Fort Dupont Addition assessed at $36,500, cost $40,533.40; from Neuhauser, piece in Klinge valley, west of Connecticut avenue assessed at $14,600, cost $15,571.24, only 6 per cent above the assessment; from Morhart, one square assessed at $9,550, cost $30,000; from Back, in Klinge valley, west of Connecticut avenue, 15,751 square feet assessed at $1,553, cost $1,725; from Chester, two lots assessed at $586, cost $2,235; from Greenfield for Anacostia playground, 92,908 square feet assessed at $3,425, cost $4,000; from Gruver, in Piney Branch, east of Sixteenth street, 113,236 square feet assessed at $29,309, cost $79,285.76; from Wallingford, in same locality, 2,000 feet assessed at $600, cost $1,399.58; from Chevy Chase Land Co., one square assessed at $37,583, cost $70,000; from Macklin, in Klinge valley, east of Connecticut avenue, 67,436 square feet assessed at $16,860, cost $21,504.91; from Chevy Chase Land Co., 2,969 square feet in Klinge valley assessed at $223, cost $742.70. In all, slightly more than 100 acres were acquired.

Larger Funds Sought.

Representative Funk, chairman of the House committee on District appropriations, said that he would receive the commissioners and the park commission spokesmen with an open mind when they present their argument for a removal of the 125 per cent limitation. He has no desire, of course, he said, to completely throttle park and school site purchases, but on the other hand, if it is a case of the lands being held too dearly or of the assessors not assessing them high enough he wants the situation remedied. If the assessments are too low, it is pointed out, it is a case of some taxpayers paying more than their share of the burden.

Representative Underhill, of Massachusetts, one of the prime movers behind the original park commission bill, makes a stab every year at getting more than $600,000 for the commission. He plans to do everything he can at this session.

No outward opposition has developed to the $25,000,000 project to acquire the outstanding property south of the Avenue. All comment in either Senate or House on it so far has been to the effect that it is the most economical thing to do.

Commissioners Seek
Additional Quarters

The board of District commissioners yesterday considered the situation confronting the local government by reason of the fact buildings housing eight of its branches will have to be razed to make room for the structures to be erected in carrying out the Federal government's $25,000,000 building program in the triangle between Pennsylvania avenue, the Mall and Fifteenth street.

The house of detention, first precinct police station, fire engine company No. 16, truck company No. 3, police traffic bureau, employment office, central municipal garage and health department clinic will have to find new quarters.

Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty raised the question of what was to be done to reestablish these buildings. The plan is to make the following were named to make the study:

Maj. Edwin B. Heese, superintendent of police; George S. Watson, chief engineer of the fire department; William P. Richards, assessor; Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, auditor; and A. L. Harris, municipal architect.

The commissioners also approved and sent to Brig. Gen. H. M. Lord, director of the bureau of the budget, a draft of a bill to authorize the purchase of the Southern Railway building to house the office of the recorder of deeds, the police and traffic departments and other municipal branches.

Administrative duties of commissioners were altered slightly as the last step in the reorganization of the board of commissioners. The department of missioner Dougherty to Commissioner Sidney F. Taliaferro, and the department of licenses was transferred from the latter to Dougherty.

Final decision was made to issue no free automobile drivers' permits to drivers of District government cars, but to make each employee stand the expense of his own permit. This was done on advice of Corporation Counsel Francis H. Stephens, supporting a prior ruling by Auditor Donovan.

Police Private Walter J. Morrison was suspended without pay pending hearing before the trial board on a charge of raiding the home of a citizen on a gaming charge, without due process of law.

2,000-MILE AERO LINE PLAN GIVEN TO HOOVER

Mitten Management, Inc., of Philadelphia, Would Have Air Field Here.

4 ROUTES ARE PROPOSED

Philadelphia, Dec. 7 (By A. P.)—Suggestions for a 2,000-mile air transport system from New York to New Orleans and Chicago to Atlanta were submitted today to Secretary Hoover, of the Department of Commerce, by Mitten Management, Inc., which operates trolley, bus and taxicab service in this city.

The company offered to cooperate with the government in air transport development and gave the results of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co.'s operation of air lines between this city, Washington and Norfolk during the Sesquicentennial exposition. These lines carried passengers, freight, and mail.

The company's recommendations to the Federal authorities included establishment of a flat rate of 10 cents an ounce for air mail, allotment of a share of 2 cents mail to air carriers, transportation of passengers in connection with the carrying of mail, and use of Multitengue airplanes, such as the transit company employed in its Sesquicentennial service.

Mitten Management gave no indication to whether it would submit bids for the operation of the proposed air system. A chart, prepared after a survey by the company, suggests, first, an air line from New York, through Philadelphia, Washington, Norfolk, Greensboro, Charlotte, Atlanta, Birmingham and Mobile with a terminus at New Orleans; second, a route extending from Chicago to Atlanta, passing over Indianapolis, Louisville and Nashville; third, two extensions, one from New York to Boston by way of Hartford and the other from Atlanta to Miami by way of Jacksonville, Tampa and Fort Myers; fourth, a line from New York to Chicago by way of Bellefonte, Pa., and Cleveland.

Man Who Quit With $1,000,000 at 45, Dies

Boston, Dec. 7 (By A. P.)—Joseph S. Donovan, who lived to realize a boyhood ambition to retire with "this million" at the age of 45, died today, less than a year after his retirement. An unexpectedly serious development in a kidney ailment, for which he went to Peter Bent Brigham hospital several weeks ago, set in just after Thanksgiving. He never rallied.

As a 14-year-old apprentice mechanic in the Harmon (N. Y.) shops of the New York Central railroad, Donovan told a group of fellow-toilers he would make his million by the time he was 45 years old and quit. It was in fulfillment of this promise that Mr. Donovan retired as head of the Donovan Motor Car Co. on January 1 last, several months before his forty-sixth birthday.

"Slush" About Women Arouses Ian Hamilton

London, Dec. 7 (By A. P.)—Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, in a speech which he called "Slush About Women," said the praise of woman and assertions of her taking the place of man, "has been overdone altogether—there's nothing to it."

"Woman is not lagging behind by any means, and she may smoke and drink cocktails, but men will always do the work in the mines, in the steel mills and in the executive offices and in the trenches of war, where hard, solid thinking is necessary for success," he declared.

Fuel Delays Army's Pan-American Flight

Start of the army Pan-American flight from San Antonio, Tex., will be delayed from December 15 to December 20 in order that oil and gasoline for the fliers may reach stops in Central America and Mexico.

The Panama canal department will have the fuel available at Mexican and Central American points at the time of the fliers' arrival, if the flight starts at the latter date.

SHE SPURNS PASTOR ON EVE OF WEDDING

Girl at Boston Says Alleged Charges Against Minister,
55, Caused Refusal.

Boston, Dec. 7 (By A. P.)—Charging that his arrest in Baltimore in 1915 on charges involving a small girl was the cause of her refusal, Miss Cora May Stewart, 20-year-old Prince Edward Island girl, met the Rev. Robert T. Wood, 55, on his arrival here last night with the announcement that their marriage, scheduled for today, will never take place.

Miss Stewart said she met the pastor last summer at the Prince Edward Sunday school. Notification from the Baltimore police of his arrest there eleven years ago led her to change her mind. Mr. Wood, she said, resigned last Sunday as pastor of the Twenty-fifth street Christian church, Baltimore, after serving one day and preaching two sermons. His resignation was understood to have followed receipt of a letter from the Rev. Dr. Peter Ainslie, pastor of the Baltimore Christian temple, in which the doctor wrote that if Mr. Wood was the same pastor who was arrested in 1915, it "would be much better for the church if your resignation was handed in forthwith."

House Delays Final English Case Action

(By The Associated Press.)

Due to the absence of both the ranking Republican and Democratic members in charge of proceedings against former Federal Judge George W. English, of Illinois, final action on the House in the case, the dropping of the charges, has been postponed until Saturday.

Representatives Michener, Republican, Michigan, and Summers, Democrat, Texas, Saturday will advise the House Judge English resigned and recommend the move for his impeachment trial in the Senate be abandoned.

SECOND LOVE

By MALCOLM DUART.
(Copyright, 1926, Eugene MacLean.)

CHAPTER LX.

"ARE you and daddy going to the same place?" exclaimed Audrey. She looked with questioning interest, first at her father and then at Marjie.

The newcomer took a seat, sitting sideways with her legs crossed, her eyes were sparkling.

"You'll write to us, won't you, Nona, dear?" Marjie said. "There was a gleam of malice in the glance she cast at the older girl."

"No," said Nona slowly. "I won't write."

The answer evidently delighted Marjie. "Don't be mad at us—it'll spoil our fun! Won't it, Harry?" She appealed to the man, who listened, puffing his pipe. Then she went on to the two girls. "He's going to the new roadster, and we'll drive, and fish, and hike—it will be a wonderful August. Won't it?"

Morton got up.

"Marjie," said he, and stopped.

The girl responded brightly. "Yes?"

She walked to her, and laid her fingers on her shoulder. "I'm sorry, child," he said. "But you misunderstood. I'm not going there alone—Nona is going, too."

"Nona!" cried Audrey and Marjie together. Then Marjie added: "But I don't want her, Harry!"

"I'm sorry," he said again. "You see—"

Marjie said, her face blank, her red lips drawn into an "O." After an instant, Audrey leaped to her feet, and threw her arms around Nona's neck. "Married!" she gasped. "Married!"

She kissed her father then, and started running to the house.

"I'll tell John!" she flung over her shoulder, as she reached the rear steps.

Marjie was rising, now, her cheeks bloodless, her eyes drawn and old-looking. "What did you do this time to me?" she asked.

She leaned against the chair, gripping it with one hand until her knuckles showed white. Morton still was beside her.

"You made me do it, Marjie," he said. "She looked straight into his eyes, impulsively waiting for him to go on."

"You remember," he said, "that when I came home, it was because Audrey and John had separated. The first thing I found was that you were making love to the boy."

"You knew I was doing it for fun," she said, steadily.

"But he was becoming interested. He didn't understand you, my dear—and I did. Audrey is my daughter, and I wanted to save her happiness if I could."

"So," the girl accused, "you saved her happiness at the expense of mine?" Her voice was not angry; only dull and dead.

Morton laid his hand on her arm. "If you had not been tampering with Audrey's life, I would not have let you," he smiled. "I told you, I told nobody—not even Audrey—that Nona was Mrs. Morton. When she followed me here, I told her to say nothing."

Marjie turned to Nona, her lips curling. "So she was in the secret—laughing at me all the time!"

She lifted her handbag, and opened it. "You gave me a ring," she said. "Here it is—what's left of it."

With a sharp swing of her arm, she strewed a handful of paper money on the lawn. The wind picked up the strips of green and yellow currency, and tumbled them toward the street.

"And here's the pawn ticket," she said, tossing a bit of cardboard at him. The color was back in her face by this time, and she even managed to laugh.

"You must have had fun," she continued, starting to go away.

At this instant Audrey and Parrish came running from the house. Parrish's countenance was alight with pleasure. Marjie paused to watch the two men shake hands, and Nona, smiling a little, accept a filial kiss from the young man.

Then Marjie extended her fingers to Audrey. "Thank you for the nice things you've given me," she said. Stepping to Nona, she held out her hand. "You won't mind if I take this?" "I wish you happiness," she said.

She tripped across the lawn, around the house, and out the gate to her yellow roadster. Pressing the starter button, she waved her hand to the watching group on the lawn.

Presently, at her father's house, she sank on the front steps and sat there, brooding, her chin in her cupped hands. "Nearly ten years," she thought, "I've been waiting for you, Marjie. You're coming out."

"I'm all ready," she said. "I'm glad to go. Gee, it's been a dull summer!"

Audrey was curled on the grass at her father's feet. Nona was beside him, and Parrish, his back against a tree, was watching the trio.

"You see, my dear, it wasn't all roses and honey, here in your house when I got home. I had just one business in life for you—that was to make you happy. When you were unhappy, it was up to me to drop all my other affairs until you were straightened out. It seemed like a lot of trouble, but I did it. I should seem to be unattracted."

He took Nona's hand. "You understood, didn't you, dear?"

"I understood," his wife said, "but I should have hated that small minx, Marjie."

"Poor Nona," laughed Morton. "She's had no honeymoon at all. We were married just before I said, 'Thank you, Marjie.' She got here, Marjie was right on the job. So we were going to White Sulphur Springs—Mrs. Morton and I have got to be acquainted."

Audrey patted her father's hand. "I'm sorry I had Marjie here—it complicated things for you so."

Morton glanced at Parrish and Nona, above his daughter's head.

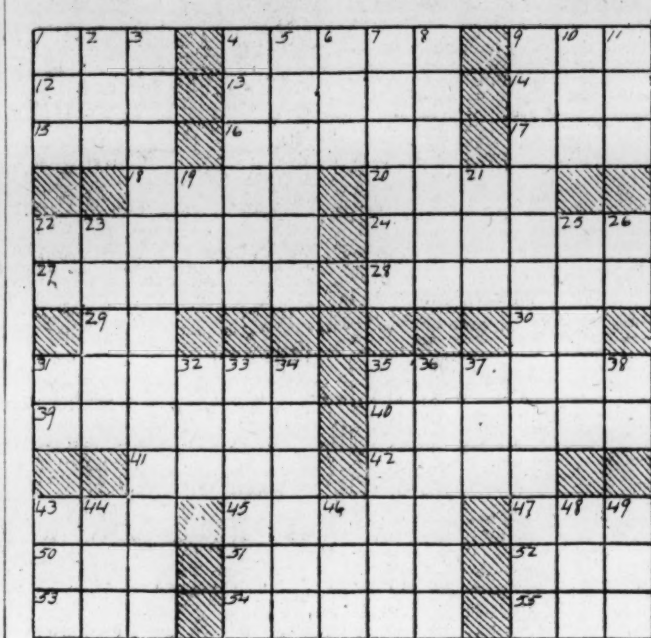

"Yes—she complicated things," he admitted.

Audrey resumed: "But she's a well-meaning little girl."

"Oh, yes," Parrish and Nona and Morton answered her together. Audrey's eyes were lowered, and Parrish winked at his father-in-law, and Nona.

Mr. Work's Pointer On Auction Bridge

(Millon C. Work, the international authority, will answer your auction bridge questions. A stamped, self-addressed envelope must accompany each request for replies.)

Yesterday's article contained two hands which raised questions as to whether they justified the holder in taking out a partner's No Trump, the intervening adversary having passed. These two hands were:

1. Sp.: Ace-King-Jack-x. Ht.: Ace-x-x-x. Dia.: King-x-x-x. Cl.: x.
2. Sp.: Ace-King-Jack. Ht.: Ace-x-x. Dia.: King-x-x. Cl.: x-x-x.

The main point in these hands is whether a No Trump should be taken out with a four-card major suit. It should not, unless the hand contains the unusual combination of great strength in the four-card major, side strength and a blank suit, or a menacing singleton. The two hands above given have exactly the same high-card strength and the same strong Spade suit, but the take-out advisable in No. 1 which fulfills the three requirements named, would be unsound in No. 2, as it has a good No Trump distribution.

At one time there was considerable doubt among expert players concerning the advisability of taking out partner's No Trump with a strong four-card Major, regardless of what the balance of the hand might be, but experience proved that, except in the most unusual cases, the four-card take-out does not work satisfactorily. The No Trump, with exactly three cards of the take-out suit, is very apt to allow it to stand. When this happens, the contract played will be a total of seven trumps in the combined hands, leaving six for the adversaries. Under such conditions, as one adversary is apt to have four trumps, it is generally much more difficult to make four of the Major than it would have been to make three No Trumps.

For this reason, taking out with four-card Majors, even with as strong a suit as Ace-King-Queen-x, is generally unwise unless a blank suit or a menacing singleton suggests a serious danger for the No Trump. The honor-score take-out (that is, a take-out made so as to obtain an 80- or 90- above the line) is the only other type of four-card Major take-out which is advisable. With a four-card Major in which every card is an honor and with such side strength that opposite to a No Trump, game is obviously assured at either declaration, the certainty that the honor-score will be materially greater with the Major than with No Trump makes the take-out advantageous.

The pointer for today is:

Do not take out your partner's No Trump with a four-card Major, unless the Major is very strong and the hand contains additional strength and a blank suit or a menacing singleton, or, unless, with four honors in one hand, the side strength assures a Major game and a higher honor count.

During the last few days it has been explained that a Major take-out should be made with strength, and should not be made with weakness; but what minimum strength is required to justify it has not been stated. To illustrate this, four hands are given which will be discussed tomorrow; the question in each being whether, after a No Trump by partner and a pass by Second Hand, Third Hand should bid two Spades.

1. Sp.: King-Queen-x-x-x. Ht.: x-x-x. Dt.: x-x. Cl.: x-x-x.
2. Sp.: King-Jack-x-x-x. Ht.: x-x-x. Dt.: x-x. Cl.: x-x-x.
3. Sp.: King-10-x-x-x. Ht.: x-x-x. Dt.: Queen-10. Cl.: Ace-Jack-10.
4. Sp.: King-10-x-x-x. Ht.: Ace-x-x. Dt.: x. Cl.: Ace-Jack-10-x.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

AMERICAN HOMES KEPT TOO WARM IN WINTER.

THE American home is kept too warm in winter time. This is one reason, though not the only one, for the great prevalence of colds, coughs and pneumonia. Much of the time the temperature is well above 70, as shown by the ordinary dry bulb thermometer. We do not complain of the heat until the thermometer goes to 75 or over, when the temperature of the house is the lack of heat.

European homes are maintained at temperatures that average at least 5 degrees lower than ours. In many cases they are 10 degrees lower. They complain of the heat, being oppressive when the temperature gets as high as 70.

Some one makes the point that the British animal is no more vigorous than the American animal. The real reason why the Britisher prefers a colder house is that he wears warmer underwear. He wears woolen undergarments. If arms come to the wrists and the legs to the ankles. He is likely to wear woolen socks.

On the other hand, the city American wears lightweight underwear. The pants and there are no sleeves. His socks are apt to be lightweight, even in winter. The old custom of "putting on" about Halloween and "taking 'em off" about Easter has been discarded—at least among office and store workers. In consequence the American is not comfortable unless his home is kept overwarm. The same applies to his shoes and his store.

I have never been strong for heavy underwear. It always seemed to me more sensible to put the extra warmth in the outer garments, because they can be put on when we go out and taken off when we come in. But it may be we have gone too far. If our underwear is so tight that it compels us to overheat our houses if we are to be comfortable, we have gone too far. It could be better to gain comfort by increasing the weight of the underwear if that carries with it the possibility of lowering the temperature of the house.

Vigorous children, rosy-cheeked girls and football-playing boys can wear gauzy underwear with comfort even when the temperature of the house is kept at 65. But men and women 25 to 50 years of age will want either hot air or warm clothing. Old people need heavy underwear, anyway.

Even in warm houses the complaint of cold floors is general. The warm air goes toward the ceiling; the cold hangs to the floor. Fresh air entering a warm room flows across the floor to the fireplace or the radiator. Air chilled by windows and outside walls falls to the floor more certainly when the room air is warm. The result is that the feet on stools as they work it will increase their comfort, but not even the general use of stools will do away with the advantage of warm socks.

H. J. M. writes: Is it possible for a young person in the early twenties, whose urine has been found to contain albumin to a considerable extent, by dieting and eating the foods prescribed by a physician, to completely recover? If so, how long will this diet be necessary? Or will it be necessary to go on a diet for the rest of his life?

REPLY.

The chance that this young person will be completely restored to health is good.

BEAUTY AND YOU

DEAR MISS PARIS: I have an ugly red scar on the side of my face, caused by recent lancing and a subsequent infection. Can you let me know if there is an inexpensive means of "bleaching" this mark? Also, of removing red marks caused by slight skin infections? WELLESLEY.

Answer—I do not believe that there is any external preparation that would either bleach or conceal the scar on the face. If the place is still inflamed or the skin broken, it would, of course, be very unwise to apply any preparation without the advice of a physician. Perhaps your doctor could suggest some medicinal lotion or ointment which would soothe and would hasten healing. Otherwise there is nothing to do but to let the scar grow slowly smaller and less vivid as time goes by.

A little skin infection, such as the pimple, will naturally leave a red mark. This mark will gradually disappear. It can not be bleached by any preparation. You could partially conceal it by the use of a good liquid powder, put on and allowed to dry before applying your regular loose powder. But the best thing to do is to avoid having the blemish or infection in the first place.

Conduct and Common Sense

By ANNE SINGLETON

DO YOU DO THIS? Little muttered remarks like, "Where under the sun did I put that letter?" "I wonder if I wrote down so-and-so's address?" "What a muddle this drawer is in!" are very upsetting to listeners who don't want to listen and perfectly useless as far as the person uttering them is concerned. They are bad enough when thrust off into space, but when addressed to some one in particular, who must stop whatever he or she is doing long enough to reply, they are maddening.

Do your thinking inside your head. I say to myself half a dozen times a day, and I hope I soon shall. At all events, I beg anybody who knows what mental work is to refrain from interrupting people who are doing it unless the interruption is necessary. Not only is it to be remembered in office work, but at home in the boom of the family. The trickle of talk from a person who is foolishly thinking about in a great irritation to people who are engaged in thinking to themselves.

Locks, in Eton Crop, Drawn Through Ring

(By The Associated Press.)

One of the variations of the Eton crop this season is to have a lock of hair drawn from the back underneath the ear. It is not easy to train these back locks to lie perfectly flat, even with the aid of brilliantine, so the English miss has brought out some original earrings to help. Now the rebellious locks are passed through a ring small enough to hook it firmly, yet not too small to spoil the line of the hair.

Polished Steel Rings And Brooches Worn

(By The Associated Press.)

Marcasite jewelry, those rings and brooches of highly polished steel that were so popular in the 17th and 18th centuries, are the vogue in England again. Genuine antique brooches and rings are bringing high prices in the market while modern reproductions are equally in evidence.

High-Collared Jumper, Sleeveless, Is Featured

(By The Associated Press.)

A very high-collared sleeveless jumper is being featured among the English winter styles. It is of black velvet richly adorned with hand-painted roses and a high collar buttoned to the ears and worn over a filmy skirt of finely pleated, black chiffon. Brightly colored buttons, brooches or arrows are used as fasteners.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES McDONALD

DEAR Miss Macdonald: I have been a constant reader of your column for the last ten months and it sure has answered me quite a few questions, but now I have one to ask and I know your advice will be correct to the letter.

I am married, 24 years old, and my husband is the same age. I have been married two years and knew my husband seven years before I married him. He was very good to me in general and also was very loving and kind to me before we were married. Now he tells me, the only thing he lives for is success in business and to make money; also he is constantly telling me that he doesn't know what real love is—that he is incapable of loving to any great extent, and I believe it, as he never shows me any affection, or our 5-month-old daughter, either. I love him sincerely and have always tried to be a good wife. He admits that he has no complaint against me, yet he treats me with contempt. Occasionally I break loose and tell him a few things and for a few days he is different, but it never lasts. My question is this—should I leave him? Do you think he might change for good? We are not housekeeping; we board with my people, therefore I feel able to leave him. He often in company expresses a wish for his freedom, especially when we are among single people; always I have told him to go when he is ready, but after we are alone he tells me to try and get rid of him. What do you advise?

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FRIENDSHIP.

What in life has pleased you most, Tired, old man now resting there? Sitting in your chair?

Wealth in plenty you have known, Laughing fame has wreathed your brow, Certain lands and stocks you own, What about them now?

Is there more than shining gold? Something that surpasses fame? Asked the richest prize you hold, What is it you'd name?

Youth," he said, "man's time is fleet, All too soon the journey ends, Only he finds life complete, Who has friends.

Running all life's glamour through, All by which man's years are blest, This today I'd say to you: Friendship is the best."

The Town and Country Dress

A TOWN and country dress is a very useful thing to have, and one can be made easily by any one who can sew if the choice is crepe and a design like this. Patent leather shoes and a black felt hat should be worn with a bright blue dress for town, brown leather shoes and a brown hat would be more appropriately worn with it in the country.

As for making the frock—the tucks are taken up on the inside at a low waist-line, giving a two-piece effect. The fulness is gathered at each side before stitching the top tuck. The trimming hands are optional; if you intend using them, stitch them to the skirt-inset sections before joining the insets to the frock.

The shoulder and the sleeve tucks are stitched on the inside before stitching the seams. The scarf collar is stitched to the neck-line across the back, and down a few inches below the shoulder seam. The front of the neck-line may be bound, or finished with a narrow bias facing on the inside.

BANKERS BUY OPTION ON VICTOR MACHINE CO.

Speyers and Seligman Will Pay $40,000,000 Cash for Phonograph Firm.

E. R. JOHNSON TO RETIRE

New York, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Control of the Victor Talking Machine Co., the country's largest manufacturer of phonographs, is expected to pass to a banking group headed by Speyer & Co. and J. W. Seligman & Co., in a $40,000,000 cash transaction under the terms of an agreement concluded today.

The bankers announced tonight that they had taken an option to purchase the controlling interest in the company, now held by E. R. Johnson, president, and his family. The option is expected to be exercised, it is said, by the end of the month.

The Victor company now has about $3,000,000 in cash and other assets. Representatives of the bankers said it would be their intention to preserve, after the change in ownership, the continuity of the present management, which built up the company to one of the first in its field and recently recovered it to a strong position. It had been hard hit by the rapid development of the competitive radio industry.

Mr. Johnson, in a statement to stockholders, said: "Influenced greatly by the condition of my health and my consequent desire to be relieved from business cares, I have given the option to the bankers."

OIL DEFENSE EXPECTS TO FINISH THIS WEEK

constitutional right to be in the court room. Counsel for Albert B. Fall, counsel in the view of Doherty's lawyers.

Wilton J. Lambert, of counsel for Fall, said yesterday:

"The right to be present at the trial is one which the defendant cannot waive. If a defendant is compelled to be away from the trial, he cannot proceed unless he specifically waives his right." Mark B. Thompson, of counsel for Fall, expressed the same view.

Decisions have been rendered in the District court and the United States Supreme Court of the United States. It is pointed out, showing that the controlling question is whether or not the defendant's constitutional right is waived, either voluntarily by himself or involuntarily by his fleeing the court's jurisdiction. But the absence of a defendant from the trial does not in itself constitute a waiver of that constitutional right so that it could be used as a basis for a judgment of conviction. It is the duty of the court to determine whether the defendant has waived his right prior to the commencement of the trial.

Lambert called attention yesterday to the fact that the defendant, Albert B. Fall, had a right to be present at the trial. He said that a defendant waives his right when he voluntarily absents himself but that he does not waive his right when his absence is involuntary.

The case cited by Lambert is the case of Ex parte Millamant, 100 U.S. 681, 25 L. Ed. 113, 10 S. Ct. 681, 1882, in which the Supreme Court held that a defendant's absence from the trial, without a waiver, does not constitute a waiver of his constitutional right to be present.

In this case Justice Van Devanter stated a decision of Justice Martin F. Morris, of the District Supreme Court, Fall vs. U. S., 15th App. p. 446, in which it was contended by the defendant that the lower court was in error because it allowed the trial to proceed in the absence of the defendant after he had absented himself. Justice Morris refused to grant the appeal on the ground that the defendant had waived his right to be present at the trial by voluntarily absending himself.

Anxious to Be in Court.

Mr. Doherty is understood to be particularly anxious to be in court for the concluding days of the trial for reasons other than his constitutional right. He is known to have been waiting for more than two years for an opportunity to tell the full story of his relationship with the contracts and leases which are now under fire by the prosecution. Up to the present he has been unable to do so because of the obstacles to his testimony which he has had to overcome to realize his wish, and that was the possibility that his counsel might not permit him to testify.

Though no formal statement from Frank J. Hogan has been made, the impression has been created that he had obtained consent of his counsel to take the stand. But now it will be necessary for the defendant to be present at the trial for the testimony which he has given at Los Angeles. Indeed, of the trial preceding the civil trial—as is usually the case, it is pointed out—the civil case was heard first and testimony in the civil trial as well as testimony before the Senate committee is being used in the present criminal case by the prosecution against the defendants.

This admitted has brought unprecedented situations. One point in Robert's cross-examination of Senator John C. Robinson on Monday, the government's special counsel asked Robinson about testimony which he had given at Los Angeles concerning testimony which he Robinson had given before the Senate committee.

When this question of testimony removed by four distinct stages from the defendant's present testimony, returned back to the defendant, and he seemed to lose the thread of the circumlocution and said he didn't understand the question.

Today's session will begin at 10 a. m. instead of 9:30. Lionel T. Barnson, president of the General Petroleum Co., had not finished his testimony when court adjourned Monday and presumably will resume the stand. Hogan will persist in his efforts to have the witness tell of prices, etc., in the California field at the time the Elk Hills lease was made, in the hope of showing that the Pan American terms were

PERJURY ARREST IS MADE

Philadelphia, Dec. 7 (By A. P.).—Five election division officers were today held in $10,000 bail for court on charges of fraud at the November election. At the same time a young woman stenographer, called as a witness against them, suddenly found herself a prisoner charged with perjury when she said she could not remember certain incidents connected with the election. The young woman, Miss Lena Kornberg, she was held in $400 bail.

The five election officers are Walter P. Cleary, judge of the election in the 34th division of the 33rd ward; his brother, George J. Cleary, clerk of election; Raymond Cleary, another brother, inspector of election; Jacob Selzer, inspector; and Herman Gottlieb, clerk. They are being prosecuted by the committee of 70, an organization of citizens. The case was heard before Mrs. Violet E. Fahrenstock, the only woman police magistrate in Philadelphia.

Tally sheets were introduced in evidence by Algonquin E. Clapp, special prosecuting attorney for the committee, showing that 450 votes had been cast for the United States senator, whereas only 440 persons had registered.

Miss Kornberg was sworn to show that she had not actually appeared at the polls on election day. Her memory failed her when asked whether she had voted at the last election. She was taken to the polling place, but was not "clear" that she had, and she was first arrested.

This young woman, interrupted by a crowd of certain persons, happened on election day and certainly is not telling them now. She has certainly not been to the polls. She has been told to answer the question on "I don't know." I demand her arrest for perjury."

Christmas Festivities Begin at Petersburg

Special to The Washington Post.

ALUMNI TO AID CHAPTER

Petersburg, Va., Dec. 7.—The formal opening of the Christmas season in Petersburg was participated in by 5,000 persons, hundreds of whom came from neighboring counties. Several hundred Boy Scouts carrying banners, and the choir from several churches, assembled at the Petersburg Grays' armory and marched, headed by the Petersburg American Legion drum corps, to Sycamore and Franklin streets, where the exercises were held.

The exercises were opened with prayer by the Rev. J. E. Hemphill, pastor of Tabernacle Presbyterian church. The address was by the Rev. W. Marshall Craig, pastor of First Baptist church, who spoke of "Community Spirit." Mr. Craig then turned the switch which illuminated a large number of Christmas trees, Christmas carols were sung by the crowd.

The Washington Alumni association of Petersburg, Va., is holding a meeting tonight. "Washington chapter has been a leader in every progressive activity of the national organization, and it behooves us to maintain that reputation. Let's make the Washington chapter a national center for the outstanding one of the Institute."

CENTRAL AND BUSINESS BASKETBALL TEAMS TRIUMPH

Illinois Body Draft Rule Hurts Minors, Recognizes Walker

Decision Transferring Middleweight Title Is Upheld.

2 Judges in Addition to Referee Will Decide in Future.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 7. (By A. P.)—The Illinois State athletic commission refused today to reverse the decision, as requested by Walk Miller, manager of the Georgia Deacons, in the future two judges in addition to the referee will decide all contests. This plan, the same used by the New York commission, will become effective January 1.

The commission in its investigation found there was no collusion or crookedness on the part of Referee Yanger; that his decision was strictly an honest one, and that Yanger rendered his verdict in accordance with the rules of boxing, as promulgated by the commission.

The commission took the spectators to task for booing, inferring that the patrons were ignorant of the rules of the sport.

Miller, the dethroned titleholder's manager, while expressing disappointment because of the commission's refusal to reverse the decision, said he felt the commission had exerted every effort within its power to "right the injustice" that had been done in depriving Flowers of his title.

Miller said Flowers and Walker are certain to meet in a return match within 90 days, and that Tex Rickard would promote it in his Madison Square Garden arena in New York, probably on March 3. Miller intimated, however, that the date might be set back so the contest can be staged outdoors.

"While I am disappointed with the finding of the commission, I feel that the commissioners have done all within their power to right the injustice."

Unanimous Indorsement of Commissioner Blocked by Dallas Man—Red Sox Send Zahniser and Others to St. Paul Club.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Dec. 7. (By A. P.)—A move for unanimous indorsement of Commissioner K. M. Landis' administration of baseball by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues was blocked today by Walter Morris, secretary of the Dallas club of the Texas league. Morris objected to an indorsement resolution because of the draft clause, which the Texan termed "thoroughly objectionable."

The resolution introduced at the opening session of the national association's annual meeting by John D. Martin, president of the Southern association, called for sweeping indorsement of Landis and his administration, and gave "official notice" to the major leagues that the minors wanted him re-elected with "no curtailment of authority."

After a heated discussion the resolution was referred to the resolutions committee. It had been seconded when Martin asked if it meant that the association approved the agreement, which is to remain in force as long as Landis holds the office of commissioner.

Martin expressed the opinion that such would be the case. "In that case I am opposed to the resolution and will vote against it," Martin said. "I am sick and tired of the draft rule, and while I am heartily in favor of Judge Landis' reelection, I think some action should be taken whereby the leagues now suffering from the draft would be relieved."

G. G. Branham, president of the South Atlantic, Virginia and Piedmont leagues, and a supporter of the resolution, suggested that it be sent to the resolutions committee. T. J. Hickey, president of the American association, and J. C. Ewing, president of the Oakland club, however, both opposed this move. They both praised Landis and his administration.

Martin then declared that he felt some relief should be afforded from the draft rule and that, while he is heartily in favor of indorsing Landis, he believed the resolutions committee should hear the leagues under the draft before the resolution was acted on by the association.

On a vote, Hickey was the only league president to oppose reference to the committee. He withdrew his vote at the request of President Sexton, of the National association.

The first major league players to be shunted to the minors during the last season.

The session was Fred Heimach and Paul Zahniser, pitchers, and Alex Gaston, catcher, sent to St. Paul by the Boston Red Sox in payment for Paul Waminger, shortstop and Fred Hofman, catcher.

The meeting of the association opened with an address of welcome from Holmes Bryson, president of the Asheville Chamber of Commerce, to which President Sexton replied. After the report of Secretary J. H. Farrell, the president delivered his annual address.

President Sexton turned early in his address to the young and old in baseball. He deplored the practice of employing scouts to "pry through the colleges and even high schools of this country in search of baseball material."

"I think the time has come to put a ban on such practices," he said. Baseball managers who have advanced to the stage of the sere and withered leaf also claimed attention. "I am of the opinion that this association, at this meeting should see that class D leagues observe their salary limits, do away with corrupt managers and clean up their affairs in general."

"Throughout baseball there is a movement to set salary limits as observed and I know of no place where such a reform is more needed than in these class D leagues."

"Minor league baseball is in splendid and healthy condition," Mr. Sexton said. "Coming into existence when baseball was at war, the association has grown to include power in the handling of affairs in both minor and major league baseball."

"It always has been the aim of officials of this organization to see that this power is rightly and justly used for the benefit of the game and to protect not only the leagues but also the millions of fans who pay to keep them going."

Farrell's report showed 29 leagues, embracing 201 cities and towns in the United States and Canada, qualified for membership. The name and address of each league was given, and the report showed 7,046 players employed by the national association during the last season.

The number of players in organized baseball was increased by 940, last year's report showing 6,106 employed. Walter G. Botes, president of the Association of Professional Ball Players of America, said he was glad to see that the association cares for old ball players who are destitute, presented a plea to the meeting that each club in the minors be allowed to set aside one day's receipts for the use of the association to provide homes for the sick and indigent. The proposal will be taken up at an executive session later in the week.

As the national association assembled today, delayed in convening by continued lack of baseball trades, there was still a disposition among many of the presidents and managers to swap for money, marbles or chalk.

Dan Howley, new manager of the St. Louis Browns, arriving today, did some business for St. Louis almost at once, by buying the contract of Guy Sturdy, first baseman, from the Tulsa club of the Western league.

Oklahoma City of the Western league traded Felix Velazquez, third baseman, to Waco of the Texas league, for S. W. Ellis, pitcher.

Leo Schulte, on the ineligible list of the Asheville club of the South Atlantic league, was traded to the Montgomery club of the Southeastern league.

Kansas City's managerial problem was not decided, and according to President George E. Muehlbach, will not be solved during the meeting. With minor league players, who are being sent to the majors, the name of Wilbur Goode, former Kansas City manager, was placed in nomination today. Plans to go to manage the Macon Sally club failed to materialize.

Latzo Meets Challenger Tonight

Joe Simonich, Butte Miner, to Fight Welter Champ.

Only a Knockout or a Victory on Foul Can Transfer Title.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 7. (By A. P.)—Terminating a six months' absence from the ring, Pete Latzo, of Scranton, Pa., will go into action at the Newark armory tomorrow night for the third time since he lifted the world's welterweight title from Mickey Walker last May.

His opponent in a ten-round, no-decision fight will be Joe Simonich, miner from Butte, Mont., whose chief claim to distinction in the East was a recent, hard-fought match against Walker, during which the Western fighter scored a first-round knockout.

Indications today were the Simonich, who has been fighting as a middleweight, would make the welterweight limit of 147 pounds, forcing Latzo to defend the title. Simonich weighed 148 pounds after his workout today. A knockout over Latzo or disqualification of the champion for fouling would bring about change of title if Simonich succeeds in shoving off the extra pound.

In two previous defenses of his crown, Latzo knocked out Willie Harmon, of New York, in five rounds, and won on a foul in the fourth round from George Levine, also of New York.

There will be three ten-round supporting fights. In the semifinal, Benny Bass, Philadelphia featherweight, will square off against Penny Cross, of Newark. The others will pit Mickey Drew, Detroit lightweight, against Johnny Cecchi, of Scranton, Pa., and Monte Mun, Nebraska heavyweight, against Gordon Muncie, of New York, former amateur champion.

Girl Defeats Mother For Pinehurst Medal

Pinehurst, N. C., Dec. 7. (By A. P.)—Mother and daughter battled for first place in the annual golf championship here today, and youth was victorious. Miss Dorothy Doyle, of Philadelphia, won the medal with a score of 109, defeating her mother, Mrs. Francis J. Doyle, also of Philadelphia, by two strokes. Mrs. Doyle, who has been a member of the club for the last nine holes. Other scores were: Mrs. Herman Ellis, New York, 99; Mrs. W. M. Marr, Philadelphia, 101. Play will be continued tomorrow.

U. S. G. A. to Expand To 1,200 Clubs, Is Plan

New York, Dec. 7. (By A. P.)—Reorganization of the United States Golf association with a view to increasing active membership in the organization from 888 to 1,200 clubs, is proposed in the call for the annual meeting at Pittsburgh on January 8.

The organization has a committee of the green section of the U. S. G. A., which now has no formal connection with the association, and is composed of allied memberships are recommended. A single membership fee of $30 annually, including service of golf green section, is proposed. The committee has been working in connection with the growing of turf grasses and the maintenance of country's golf courses.

The U. S. G. A. at the present time has 546 allied member clubs, paying dues of $10 annually in addition to the active membership. The committee has been working in connection with the growing of turf grasses and the maintenance of country's golf courses.

Palace Pro Quintet Plays Celtics Tonight

Washington's paid basketballs will get a real test at Brooklyn tonight when they face the Celtics in the latter's debut in the American league. Although they gave the famous New Yorkers several close battles in exhibition games last season, they never were able to turn in a victory.

The Palace five has won all of its games so far this season, one of the best teams in the country being among its victims. Manager Ray Kennedy has recovered from the slight injury he received in Sunday's game with Detroit and he states that all of his players are ready for the battle of their lives and that no one will be offed in the case the Celtics hand his charges another licking.

Western Sensation Sought by Rickard

New York, Dec. 7. (By A. P.)—Billy Wallace's knockout of Kid Kaplan, retired featherweight champion, has set Eastern promoters on their trail. Tex Rickard seeks to rematch the pair in Madison Square Garden, and a Waterbury, Conn., promoter wants their return match.

Now that Mickey Walker has acquired the middleweight championship from Tiger Flowers, a rivalry that dogged Mickey's steps as welterweight champion is breaking out all over again. Dave Shade, the California crouch artist, intends to give a challenge of the new middleweight king with the New York boxing commission. Walker edged out a close decision when the pair met in a title tilt at welter.

ZAHNISER TRADED

Referee Forgets "Outline of Etiquette," Bell Saves Boxer.

New York Commission Orders Less Handshaking in Ring.

Referee Forgets "Outline of Etiquette," Bell Saves Boxer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The gentlemanly manners of prize fighters in the New York rings were revised in the direction of uncouthness today when the cauliflower commission, sitting as a committee on manners, decided that politeness had been carried to offensive extremes.

Henceforth, when one gentleman pastes another gentleman in any of the various illegal ways or bites or trips or otherwise offends against good taste and decorum he will be forbidden to offer his right glove for a conciliatory handshake, as was done heretofore.

Referees will be instructed to restrain the boys from undue handshaking and other manifestations of overpoliteness. Just one handshake will be allowed at the beginning of the final round, provided, as the commission rather mysteriously explained, that the fight lasts until the final round.

Although the prize fight profession in these parts makes quite a boast of its refinement there have been complaints lately that some of the fighters were carrying refinement to disgusting lengths and, indeed, certain fights took on the appearance of handshaking contests between aspirants for public office.

The extreme was reached last Thursday evening at the Garden when Sandy Seifert, of Pittsburgh, endeavored to make away with his bout with Jack De Mave in pleasant handclapping.

Seifert presents a strange phenomenon in that his head is bald, but his hair is hairy, and De Mave with shocking vulgarity is said to have inquired: "Why don't you comb your chest?"

Seifert offered his hand to indicate that he forgave this tactless remark, and De Mave replied: "Don't waste it, my dear sir; throw it."

The referee had left his Outline of Etiquette in the dressing room and he was about to disqualify De Mave for a breach of manners when the last bell rang.

Broadway John Cox, manager of Farmer Joe Cooper, who boasts that his fighter cuts his own hair, sleeps in his underwear, doesn't wash his neck and never says, "Excuse me," is understood to have protested against the unbridled refinement of the prize-fight business, declaring that an ordinary prize fighter without the social polish of a Gene Tunney or a Sammy Mandell might be disqualified for neglecting to inquire after the health of his opponent's mother-in-law.

"It is my idea that a prize fighter should make himself as disagreeable as possible to the other bum and statistics show that nobody ever got knocked out shaking hands," Mr. Cox stated, explaining his attitude toward the alarming spread of refinement.

"I think something should be done to curb the growth of politeness and restore the customs established by John L. Sullivan, Kid McCoy and the other founding fathers of the cauliflower business."

A motion to require all prize fighters to begin each round with a bow from the waist was defeated after a warm debate on the ground that most fighters nowadays wear the waistline near the armpits so that such bows below the belt will be scored as fouls. It was held that Willie Stribling, who played this fine was paid. Last night at Baltimore, one of the three players recently signed by the Baltimore club, is $250 per week.

Kearns was the property of the Washington club, but upon failing to report here on November 1, was fined $250. Marshall refused to waive claim to the player when Baltimore signed him until the late date. Last night at Baltimore he collected it and the redhead was permitted to go through with his Oriole deal, playing a fine game in helping the Monumental City five down Detroit, 44 to 25.

Brew, End, to Captain 1927 Gonzaga Eleven

Gonzaga's football lettermen yesterday elected Thomas Brew, end, captain of the 1927 eleven. Brew lives in Northeast, and played his first football on the Union Station plaza gridiron, which has sent a long list of stars to Gonzaga. Jim Farrell, captain this fall, and "Fee" Collier, now with the Mohawks, are two of the most prominent. Gus Smyth was named manager of the team.

Three of the stars of Gonzaga's eleven will enter Georgetown's university in the fall. They are Johnny Bosak, Eddie Dugan and Barney Nolan.

Polite Boxing COGGINS' COURT MEN WIN FROM ST. JOHN'S, 27-20; TASH IS STAR

New York Commission Orders Less Handshaking in Ring.

Referee Forgets "Outline of Etiquette," Bell Saves Boxer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The gentlemanly manners of prize fighters in the New York rings were revised in the direction of uncouthness today when the cauliflower commission, sitting as a committee on manners, decided that politeness had been carried to offensive extremes.

Henceforth, when one gentleman pastes another gentleman in any of the various illegal ways or bites or trips or otherwise offends against good taste and decorum he will be forbidden to offer his right glove for a conciliatory handshake, as was done heretofore.

Referees will be instructed to restrain the boys from undue handshaking and other manifestations of overpoliteness. Just one handshake will be allowed at the beginning of the final round, provided, as the commission rather mysteriously explained, that the fight lasts until the final round.

NATS TO BATTLE GIANTS 13 EXHIBITION GAMES

2 Pre-Season Encounters Due Here

McGrawmen at Stadium on April 7-8.
2 Games in N. Y.

Harris Anxious to Win to Wipe Out Last Spring's Defeat.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE Nationals and Giants will meet thirteen times this spring in exhibition games. President Clark Griffith announced last night. The series will open in Sarasota, the McGraw training camp, with a brace of games on March 18 and 19. The Harrismen doing the entertaining at Tampa on March 18 and 19.

On April 4, they will meet at Birmingham, journeying to Atlanta, Ga., for a game on the following day and clashing at Augusta, S. C., on the 10th.

Washington fans will get a couple of looks at their 1927 entry in games slated here on April 7 and 8, and then the scene will shift to the Polo grounds for contests there on the two following days.

These Nat-Giant series always may be counted as more than mere exhibition affairs. The teams have no love for each other, especially since their world's series meeting of 1924, when the losing McGrawmen declared that the Capital City men on luck alone.

In length, this 1927 series may be compared with that of the spring before last, when the two teams broke even in the twelve games played and then prevented the deciding one of the series from being played.

Then the Nats suddenly found themselves, covered the New Yorkers like tents in the final games, and knotted the series count in a brilliant rally which sighted the Giants, benefitting from two practice seasons a day, started off with a dash and apparently sewed up the series in the first few games.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

TAKE EXTRA STROKES IF NECESSARY AND GO AROUND OBSTRUCTION

Do you advise a golfer to try for a hole-in-one or a safe shot?

By ABE G. ESPINOSA.

One of America's Leading Professionals.

The average player should not try for an intentional hook or slice, for he is none too certain to hit the ball straight. If the ball is in such a position that a hook or a slice around a tree or other obstacles must be played in order to reach the green, the average player should play safe and use two strokes instead of trying for the hook or slice and end by dubbing and taking three or four. The intentional slice or hook is highly specialized and should only be undertaken by the very finished player.

ROSES MEET KANAWHAS TONIGHT

Old Rivals to Feature Senior League Bill at Barracks.

THE Washington barracks gymnasium should ring with good basketball tonight, when the senior league gets two games nearer the completion of its long schedule.

In both games, the teams appear evenly matched.

The Calvary Seniors and the Park Views, both winners of their first game, are scheduled to clash at 8 o'clock.

The Epiphany Seniors, composed of practically the same players who won the District and South Atlantic A. V. titles last year, have been picked by many to win the league championship.

They played an old rival, the Kanawhas, five, which won over the Independents in the first last game.

Tommy Ford, with some ten years of experience on fast District teams, will referee both games.

Ford has worked in two scholastic contests this season and left nothing to be desired.

Is Green No More

"My experience with your medicine has been wonderful. My stomach and liver trouble of five years standing took a new turn two years ago when I took on an olive green complexion. I spent $1,200 with doctors and specialists only to prove that I was still as green as ever. A friend advised me to take MAYR'S, and I am green no more. My stomach and liver trouble has all disappeared. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Peoples' Drug Stores and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this home-made syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and it is splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiac, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
